N. Rozvany, 2013-11-21 G I N Rozvany ASI Director Professor of Structural Design FB 10 Essen University Essen Germany Structural optimization deals with the optimal design of all systems that consist at least partially of solids and are subject to stresses and deformations This integrated discipline plays an increasingly important role in all branches of technology including aerospace structural mechanical civil and chemical engineering as well as energy generation and building technology In fact the design of most man made objects ranging from space ships and long span bridges to tennis rackets and artificial organs can be improved considerably if human intuition is enhanced by means of computer aided systematic decisions In analysing highly complex structural systems in practice discretization is unavoidable because closed form analytical solutions are only available for relatively simple idealized problems To keep discretization errors to a minimum it is desirable to use a relatively large number of elements Modern computer technology enables us to analyse systems with many thousand degrees of freedom In the optimization of structural systems however most currently available methods are restricted to at most a few hundred variables or a few hundred active constraints *Catalog of Copyright Entries.
