The final section presents seven SAE papers on significant recent and ongoing research by individual companies on a variety of approaches to autonomous vehicles. This book will be of interest to a wide range of readers: engineers at automakers and electronic component suppliers, software engineers, computer systems analysts and architects, academics and researchers within the electronics, computing and automotive industries, legislators, managers and other decision makers in the government, highway sector, traffic safety professionals and insurance and legal practitioners.

Saving Energy and Reducing CO2 Emissions with Electricity Clark Gellings, 2020-12-17 Through different applications, electricity provides the energy required for light, heat, comfort and mechanical work. In order to sustain society's expectation for comfort, convenience and productivity, it will remain necessary to continue to seek and find reasonable quantities of energy in forms which are accessible, affordable and have modest or zero environmental impacts. This in turn will call for an international imperative to make existing uses of electricity both efficient and practical. This book will guide the reader toward a clearer vision of that goal with explanations of the concept of electrification along with CO2 reductions through expanded end use applications of electricity. Topics will include electric cars, airport, seaport, railroad and mining electrification, industrial uses of electricity in a variety of processes, residential building use of electricity and enhancing energy efficiency and demand response.
