

BOOK TRIAL SCRIPT

Bailey: All rise. [Wait for everyone—except the judge—in court.] [Department One of the Superior Court is now in session. Judge (first name) presiding. Please be seated.]

Judge: Good morning, ladies and gentlemen. Calling the case of the People of the State of North Carolina versus (defendant's first name). Are both sides ready?

Prosecuting Attorney: Ready for the People, Your Honor.

Defense Attorney: Ready for the defense, Your Honor.

Judge: Will the clerk please swear to the jury?

Clerk: Will the jury please stand and raise your right hand? [Wait for everyone to stand.] Do each of you swear that you will fairly try the case before this court, and that you will return a true verdict according to the evidence and the instructions of the court, to help me, God? Please say "I do." [Wait for each to say "I do."] You may be seated.

[Cutter: The first thing that happens in a trial is called opening statements. This is when each attorney tells the jury what evidence they will present during the trial. The prosecution goes first and the defense goes next.]

Judge: Now the defendant's counsel: How do you plead to the charges against you?

Defendant: Not guilty, Your Honor.

Judge: Prosecution, you may proceed with opening statements.

Prosecution: [Stand up and talk to the jury.] Thank you, Your Honor and ladies and gentlemen of the jury. The defendant has been charged with the crime of _____. The evidence will show that _____. The evidence I present will prove to you that the defendant is guilty as charged. [Sit back down.]

Defense: [Stand up and talk to the jury.] Your Honor and ladies and gentlemen of the jury: Under the law my client is presumed innocent until proven guilty. During this trial, you will hear no real evidence against my client. You will come to know the truth that (defendant's first name) was just _____. Therefore my client is not guilty.

[Cutter: After the opening statements, witnesses are called to testify about what they know about the case. Sometimes the attorneys want to show physical things—like a weapon or a photograph—to the jury. These things are called exhibits. The jury may only consider an exhibit
