

Short exercises for Murach's HTML and CSS (5th edition)

Write at least one short exercise (which always has several parts) that demonstrates skills you have or are developing. It can be as simple as making a text file.

Guidelines for doing the short exercises

1. Write the exercise steps in sequence. I find it's a good idea to write `<pre>` before the exercise steps to make the file more readable.
2. Start each step by copy and pasting code from the previous exercise, as appropriate (you're already doing).
3. Use code blocks as a guide for coding.
4. At points along the exercise steps where there are links to go past sections above, make a copy and paste that link.
5. Review each short exercise to be independent of the others, using code blocks to give other people the ability to understand what I wrote. I expected the first one had errors but within three days it became a short description. One day, you could get a "this and that" note or just state the task. Review each section and make sure it's clear.
