Nanotechnology and Ethical Governance in the European Union and China Sally Dalton-Brown, 2015-06-03 This book addresses questions surrounding the feasibility of a global approach to ethical governance of science and technology The emergence and rapid spread of nanotechnology offers a test case for how the world might act when confronted with a technology that could transform the global economy and provide solutions to issues such as pollution while potentially creating new environmental and health risks The author compares ethical issues identified by stakeholders in China and the EU about the rapid introduction of this potentially transformative technology a fitting framework for an exploration of global agency The study explores the discourse ethics and participatory Technology Assessment pTA inspired by the work of Jürgen Habermas to argue that different views can be universally recognized and agreed upon perhaps within an ideal global community of communication The book offers a developed discourse model utilizing virtue ethics as well as the work of Taylor Beck Korsgaard and others on identity formation as a way forward in the context of global ethics The author seeks to develop new vocabularies of comparison to discover shared aspects of identity and to achieve hopefully an intercultural personhood that may lead to a global ethics The book offers a useful guide for researchers on methods for advancing societal understanding of science and technology The author addresses a broad audience from philosophers ethicists and scientists to the interested general reader For the layperson one chapter surveys nanoissues as depicted in fiction and another offers a view of how an ordinary citizen can act as a global agent of change in ethics

Functionalism Revisited Jon Lang, Walter Moleski, 2016-12-05 A range of current approaches to architecture are neglected in our contemporary writings on design philosophies This book argues that the model of function and the concept of a functional building that we have inherited from the twentieth century Modernists is limited in scope and detracts from a full understanding of the purposes served by the built environment It simply does not cover the range of functions that buildings can afford nor is it tied in a conceptually clear manner to our contemporary concepts of architectural theory Based on Abraham Maslow s theory of human motivations and following on from Lang s widely used text Creating Architectural Theory The Role of the Behavioral Sciences in Environmental Design Lang and Moleski here propose a new model of functionalism that responds to numerous observations on the inadequacy of current ways of thinking about functionalism in architecture and urban design Copiously illustrated the book puts forward this model and then goes on to discuss in detail each function of buildings and urban environments First Aid for the USMLE Step 1 2017 Tao Le,Vikas
