Schmid, 2013-02-12 The volume is collection of articles treating the topic of human improvement enhancement from a variety of perspectives philosophical literary medical genetic sociological legal etc The chapters in this volume treat not only those aspects that most immediately come to mind when one thinks of human enhancement such as genetic engineering cloning artificial implants and artificial intelligence etc Somewhat less obvious aspects include evolutionary perspectives in connection with the prolongation of the human lifespan plastic surgery since its beginnings and questions such as whether the distinction between natural and artificial can really be drawn at all and how it has been conceived across the ages or what the legal implications are of recent developments and techniques Many papers make links to the representation of these developments in popular culture from Jules Verne through Aldous Huxley to the movie Gattaca address the hopes and fears that come with them as well as the question how realistic these are While all chapters are written by scientists at the international top of their respective fields all are accessible to a non specialist audience and eminently readable We believe that they represent a state of the art overview of questions that are of interest to a large audience The book thus targets a non specialist audience with an interest in philosophical sociological scientific and legal issues involved in both traditional and recent matters concerning the desire of mankind to improve itself the human body the human mind and the human condition It is unique in that it brings together all these aspects within a coherent and cohesive collection Numerical Simulation, An Art of Prediction, Volume 2 Jean-François Sigrist, 2020-01-08 Numerical simulation is a technique of major importance in various technical and scientific fields Whilst engineering curricula now include training courses dedicated to it numerical simulation is still not well known in some economic sectors and even less so among the general public Simulation involves the mathematical modeling of the real world coupled with the computing power offered by modern technology Designed to perform virtual experiments digital simulation can be considered as an art of prediction Embellished with a rich iconography and based on the testimony of researchers and engineers this book shines a light on this little known art It is the second of two volumes and gives examples of the uses of numerical simulation in various scientific and technical fields agriculture industry Earth and universe sciences meteorology and climate studies energy biomechanics and human and social sciences Study Guide to Accompany Garrett & Hough's Brain & Behavior: An Introduction to Behavioral Neuroscience Bob Garrett, Gerald Hough, 2017-10-13 Revised to accompany Bob Garrett's best seller Brain Behaviour An Introduction to Biological Psychology this fully updated Student Study Guide provides additional opportunities for student practice and self evaluation De-Sequencing Dana Mahr, Martina von Arx, 2020-12-07 Are you your genes De Sequencing Identity Work with Genes explores this perplexing question showing how different forms of knowledge must be contextualized to become meaningful It is generally assumed that the genomic sequence adds up to the identity forming material life is made of Yet identity cannot itself adopt the form of a sequence As the authors in this volume show the genome must be de sequenced by human language to render it interpretable and meaningful in a social context The book unpacks this type of sequence speech in engaging detail adopting a personal social cultural and bio political approach to examine the transformation of human identity and reflexivity in the era of genetic citizenship Making Sense of Nature Noel

Castree,2013-08-15 We listen to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences Cinema of/for the Anthropocene Katarzyna Paszkiewicz,Andrea Ruthven,2025-01-31

Cinema of for the Anthropocene sheds new light on the question of how films can allow us to resituate ourselves within what is known today as the Anthropocene The authors address this question through a variety of disciplines and theoretical perspectives from film and cultural studies new materialisms critical posthumanism and animal studies critical race theory and Indigenous media studies to gender and sexuality studies with a primary focus on films produced in the United States and Canada The volume moves beyond the mere acknowledgment of the devastating damage inflicted during the Anthropocene to think about new ways of inhabiting the world through concepts such as affect response ability and more than human kinship The writers in this collection respond to its invitation by addressing a range of genres and modes thus complicating the apocalyptic discourses which have typically been central to the studies on the Anthropocene in addition to dystopian films the volume discusses animated films Hollywood biopics climate change documentaries experimental film comedy horror sci fi as well as disease thriller and survival film Taken together the chapters offer cross disciplinary readings of the cinema of for the Anthropocene showing ways in which it can help us re orient our thinking to make sense of the current age and address the planetary scale environmental catastrophe This volume will appeal to researchers and students in film studies cultural studies and the burgeoning field of environmental humanities

Beyond Critique Pamela Fraser,Roger Rothman,2017-04-06 Critique has long been a central concept within art practice and theory Since the emergence of Conceptual Art artists have been expected by critics curators and art school faculty to focus their work on exposing and debunking ideologies of power and domination Recently however the effectiveness of cultural critique has come into question The appearance of concepts such as the speculative the reparative and the constructive suggests an emerging postcritical paradigm Beyond Critique takes stock of the current discourse around this issue With some calling for a renewed criticality and others rejecting the model entirely the book s contributors explore a variety of new and recently reclaimed criteria for contemporary art and its pedagogy Some propose turning toward affect and affirmation others seek to reclaim such allegedly discredited concepts as intimacy tenderness and spirituality With contributions from artists critics curators and historians this book provides new ways of thinking about the historical role of critique while also exploring a wide range of alternative methods and aspirations Beyond Critique will be a crucial tool for students and instructors who are seeking to think and work beyond the critical
