

3A Guided Practice

Instructions

1. Read the sections in the textbook, Using the Properties of Logarithms and Graphing Logarithmic Functions, and their respective Examples, and their respective Guided Practice.
2. Each group receives a set of group work questions with work sheets and a few minutes to work on them (you may want to assign students to work on them individually before they begin their group work).
3. Each group gets a set of group work questions with work sheets. They are to work on them individually for a few minutes.
4. The groups will then discuss the questions together, and then you will assign the groups to work on the questions that will be used for the exit ticket during this lesson. The group work questions are to be used for the exit ticket at the end of the lesson. It is your choice to use them with your students after class or to use them as a group work activity.
5. After the group work activity, each group will have a set of questions to discuss and answer together. You may want to assign students to work on them individually before they begin their group work.
6. After the group work activity, each group will have a set of questions to discuss and answer together. You may want to assign students to work on them individually before they begin their group work.
