Building Regulations in Brief Ray

Tricker, Samantha Alford, 2014-04-16 This eighth edition of the most popular and trusted guide to the building regulations is the most comprehensive revision yet. It reflects all the latest amendments to Building Regulations Planning Permission and the Approved Documents A B C H K P Regulation 7 incorporating all amendments up to December 2013 including the changes to Leaflets L1A and L2A which come into effect April 2014. This new edition also contains details of the new national planning guidance system and initiatives to speed up the planning process such as the new on line planning appl Housing Design Quality Matthew Carmona, 2002-01-04 This book directly addresses the major planning debate of our time: the delivery and quality of new housing development. As pressure for new housing development in England increases, a widespread desire to improve the design of the resulting residential environments becomes evermore apparent, with increasing condemnation of the standard products of the volume housebuilders. In recent years, central government has come to accept the need to deliver higher quality living environments and the important role of the planning system in helping to raise design standards. Housing Design Quality focuses on this role and, in particular, on how the various policy instruments available to public authorities can be used in a positive manner to deliver higher quality residential developments. New Labour's countryside Woods, Michael, 2008-09-10 Rural policy has presented some of the most difficult and unexpected challenges to the New Labour government. From the Foot and Mouth crisis to the rise of the Countryside Alliance from farm protests to concerns about rural crime, rural issues have frequently seized headlines and formed the basis of organized opposition to the government. Yet the same government, elected with a record number of rural MPs, has also proactively sought to reform rural policy. This book critically reviews and analyses the development and implementation of New Labour's rural policies since 1997. It explores the factors shaping the evolution and form of New Labour's rural agenda and assesses the impact of specific policies. Contributions examine discursive restructuring of the rural policy agenda, the institutional reforms and effects of devolution, the key political debates and challenges around hunting, agricultural reform, Foot and Mouth, housing development and the right to roam, and review policy developments with respect to crime, social exclusion and employment in the countryside, rural community governance and national parks. New Labour's Countryside will be of interest to students of contemporary British politics and of rural studies, and to anyone involved in the government and politics of the countryside. Metropolitan Planning in Britain Peter Roberts, Kevin Thomas, Gwyndaf Williams, 2014-02-04 Metropolitan Planning in Britain is the first comparative analysis and assessment of metropolitan areas and their strategic planning for almost two decades. Changes in population distribution, styles of local government, business practices and attitudes to the environment have all had an impact on cities in recent years, which planners and other policy makers must take into consideration. Based on a series of research projects and the activities of a study group supported by the Regional Studies Association, the book examines in detail nine major urban areas, their specific characters and requirements, and how metropolitan planning is adapting to fulfil those requirements. It also discusses the possible future evolution of metropolitan planning especially in the light of new regional arrangements and devolution
