Guide to Wildland Fire Origin and Cause Determination: (black & White) The National Wildfir Coordinating Group,2019-01-22 The National Wildfire Coordinating Group provides national leadership to enable interoperable wildland fire operations among federal state local tribal and territorial partners Primary objectives include Establish national interagency wildland fire operations standards Recognize that the decision to adopt standards is made independently by the NWCG members and communicated through their respective directives systems Establish wildland fire position standards qualifications requirements and performance support capabilities e g training courses job aids that enable implementation of NWCG standards Support the National Cohesive Wildland Fire Management Strategy goals to restore and maintain resilient landscapes create fire adapted communities and respond to wildfires safely and effectively Establish information technology IT capability requirements for wildland fire and Ensure that all NWCG activities contribute to safe effective and coordinated national interagency wildland fire operations The Guide to Wildland Fire Origin and Cause Determination is designed for use in the field as a guide for wildland fire investigators Accurate wildland fire origin and cause determination is an essential first step in a successful fire investigation Proper investigative procedures which occur during initial attack can more accurately pinpoint fire causes and preserve valuable evidence that might be destroyed by suppression activities If a fire is human caused the protective measures described in the guide can preserve evidence that may lead to effective and fair administrative civil or criminal actions The investigation should start at the time a fire is reported or discovered First responders play an important role in protecting evidence so it is important for the wildland fire investigator to help train first responders to identify and protect the General Origin Area of the fire Wildland fire investigators should impress upon firefighters law enforcement officers and other first responders that the preliminary protection of the General origin area and any associated evidence on any wildfire is their responsibility and emphasize to them that they are the most important link in the subsequent origin and cause determination Not only is it important for the first responders to recognize the need for an accurate origin and cause determination it is important that they understand how their actions both during and following suppression can enable a qualified wildland fire investigator to accurately determine the origin and cause

Wildland Fire National Wildfire Coordinating Group (U.S.),1996 Wildfire Prevention Patrol Guide National Wildfire Coordinating Group,United States. Department of Agriculture,United States. Department of the Interior,National Association of State Foresters,1998 The use of our wildlands by people living working and recreating is increasing rapidly in today s world Many areas that received light visitor use a few years ago now experience large numbers of people over an extended recreational season The increased use of our wildlands escalates the risk of fire ignitions which threaten and damage human life homes property and natural resources The wildfire prevention strategies which are most effective dealing with these types of human ignitions fall within the categories of education and enforcement The most effective implementation of these prevention actions occur immediately before during or after these activities take place For example it is proven that the most effective prevention actions that reduce recreational campfire ignitions include posting signs at specific camping locations educating the specific target or user group and conducting highly visible patrols during periods of high fire danger The irony of this situation is that as human use of our wildland areas has increased agency patrols and presence in these use areas has often decreased generally as a result of increased operating costs and decreased agency staffing The challenge to proactively prevent unwanted loss of life property and natural resources then becomes Implement effective prevention patrols in high risk hazard and value areas during periods of increased fire danger with limited resources This guide is designed to help you take this first step and develop the appropriate and effective patrol plan for your area The challenge that may remain is to garner agency support for and implement a proactive prevention program Home Builder's Guide to Construction in Wildfire Zones ,2008 Guide to Wildland Fire Origin and Cause Determination ,2016 Preparing for Wildfire ,2005
