Legal Language and the Sea Mary C. Lavissière, Audrey Cartron, Laurent Gautier, 2025-08-04 While maritime law and law of the sea are highly researched domains of law there are few studies about the language associated with these fields In a global society that is increasingly impacted by environmental health social humanitarian and political crises that partly unfold on the sea this volume unites legal scholars and linguists who work on the language of these fields The book includes chapters that focus on macro levels of linguistic analyses e g discourse and genre analysis and micro levels e g terminology as well as translation Several languages for maritime legal purposes are studied including English French and Chinese The Law of Air Navigation Services Francis

Schubert,2024-12-09 Written by one of the leading experts in the field this book builds upon three decades of practical experience and legal research to provide a comprehensive exposition of the regulatory framework applied to Air Navigation Services ANS Francis Schubert sets out the regulations that States are required to establish in order to support the safety and efficiency of international civil aviation Decision Modes in Complex Task Environments Norbert

Steigenberger,Thomas Lübcke,Heather Fiala,Alina Riebschläger,2017-05-25 Despite intense research on decision making in action we still know little about when decision makers rely on deliberate vs intuitive decision making in decision situations under complexity and uncertainty Building on default interventionist dual processing theory this book studies decision making modes deliberate vs intuitive in complex task environments contingent on perceived complexity experience and decision style preference We find that relatively inexperienced decision makers respond to increases in subjective complexity with an increase in deliberation and tend to follow their decision style preference Experienced decision makers are less guided by their decision preference and respond to increases in subjective complexity only minimally This book contributes to a developing stream of research linking decision making with intra personal and environmental properties and fosters our understanding of the conditions under which decision makers rely on intuitive vs deliberate decision modes In doing so we go one step further towards a comprehensive theory of decision making in action Responses to Sea Migration and the Rule of Law Katia Bianchini,2024-08-22

In the current debates on sea migration there is a dearth of works drawing on the rule of law This important book addresses this failing Considering the question from that conceptual framework it is able to broaden the sometimes fragmented and incomplete perspective of existing scholarship The book takes as its central case study the experience of Italy exploring the legal issues at play there and its institutional practices and policies From here its focus broadens out to the wider EU experience looking in particular at those problems common to southern EU states such as failures and delays in assisting migrants in distress at sea and contested legal grounds and practices concerning interceptions at sea It combines both legal and empirical data charting both the black letter law and how it operates in practice In a field as complex as this this clarity is key it allows lawyers political scientists and policymakers to truly engage with the challenges sea migration poses today Crisis and Emergency Management in the Arctic Natalia Andreassen,Odd

Jarl Borch,2020-10-06 This book sheds light on the management challenges of crisis and emergency response in an arctic environment It explores how the complexity of the operational environment impacts on the risk of operations and addresses a need for tailor made emergency response mechanisms Through case studies of the arctic environment the book illustrates how factors such as nature geography demographics and infrastructure increase the complexity of crises in the Arctic and present a significant danger to life and health the environment and values in challenging Arctic waters The case studies lay a special focus on contextual factors including conflicting interests and different stakeholder groups as well as the institutional platforms influencing crisis response and emergency management They also explore the implications for the managerial roles the mode of operations and the structuring of the organizations responsible for the emergency response The necessity to facilitate cooperation across organizations and borders and a need for organizational flexibility in large scale operations are also emphasized Written in an accessible style this book will make for a useful resource for undergraduate and postgraduate students of disaster and emergency management as well as for professionals involved in emergency services
