Using the Workshop Approach in the High School English Classroom Cynthia D. Urbanski, 2005-10-07 Everybody wins when you practice the workshop approach in high school English Do you find that preparing for standardized tests interferes with teaching advanced thinking reading and writing skills in a meaningful way Do you want to balance test preparation with more creative activities Success in school and beyond depends on one's ability to read fluently write coherently and think critically This handbook uses the workshop model for exponentially increasing adolescents abilities in these three key areas This practical guide addresses the daily running and practice of a workshop based classroom using research and the author's own experiences to illustrate how to establish a workshop that Fosters lasting learning while reinforcing the skills needed for standardized tests Teaches audience and purpose as a vehicle to style and structure Provides a supportive and lively environment in which students are comfortable enough to take risks and share original ideas Try Urbanski's approach to teaching literacy analysis and mentoring student writers and discover just how rewarding the workshop experience can be

High Literacy in Secondary English Language Arts Marc Nachowitz, Kristen C. Wilcox, 2018-11-07 This volume culls scholarship on both what high literacy is and how it is developed It embraces the call put forth by Langer and Applebee 2016 that high literacy must continue to be our aim and to see more research analyzing and identifying how teachers might promote literacy practices that promote deep thinking around important content The editors offer a conceptual framework for high literacy that explicates how each component i.e reading writing dialogic engagement and epistemic cognition in literary reasoning relates to the others and from what scholarly literature these concepts have been derived Individual chapter authors provide in depth examinations of the existing research base on particular related topics focusing on the two important cross cutting aims of the volume 1 explicating the roles reading writing dialogic engagement and epistemic cognition hold in high literacy development and 2 providing examples of practices recommended to develop high literacy

Instructional Writing in English, 1350-1650 Carrie Griffin, 2019-05-20 Exploring the nature of utilitarian texts in English transmitted from the later Middle Ages to c 1650 this volume considers textual and material strategies for the presentation and organisation of written knowledge and information during the period. In particular it investigates the relationship between genre and material form in Anglophone written knowledge and information with specific reference to that which is usually classified as practical or utilitarian. Carrie Griffin examines textual and material evidence to argue for the disentangling of hitherto mixed genres and forms and the creation of new texts as unexplored effects of the arrival of the printing press in the late fifteenth century. Griffin interrogates the texts at the level of generic markers, frameworks and structures and studies transmission and dissemination in print, the nature of and attitudes to printed books and the audiences they reached in order to determine shifting attitudes to books and texts. Learning and Information from Manuscript to Print makes a significant contribution to the study of so called non literary textual genres and their transmission, circulation and reception in manuscript and in early modern printed books.

The Indispensable Guide to Undergraduate Research Anne H. Charity Hudley, Cheryl L. Dickter, Hannah A. Franz, 2017. Despite all of the information that exists to encourage students to attend and do well in college, this is the first research based guide that directly advises first and second year college students. With a focus on the needs and interests of students who are underrepresented in the academy—African American, Latinx, low income and first generation students—this book will help all students take full advantage of the academic resources that the university setting has to offer. The authors introduce students to different types of research across the disciplines, showing them how to work with professors to build a course of study, how to integrate research work into coursework and how to write and present research. This timely volume will also assist faculty staff and parents in providing the needed tools to promote student success.

Book Features: Prepares students for the transition from high school to college with a focus on writing, time management and research skills. Addresses the challenges that face high achieving underrepresented students. Empowers students to seek out resources and research opportunities to achieve their full academic potential. Includes models, approaches, student voices and vignettes from the authors' successful undergraduate research program. A must read for every college student. This practical guide provides a roadmap for success as a researcher, a scholar and a learner.

Tia Brown McNair, Association of American Colleges and Universities. Faculty mentors and administrative leaders who aspire to be effective sponsors and supporters of students from diverse backgrounds should definitely acquire this resource.

Elizabeth L. Ambos, Council on Undergraduate Research. What I love about this book is the broader humanistic conversation about how pursuing research becomes a window into how one becomes a supremely informed and critical citizen.
