Atlas of Hematologic Neoplasms Tsieh Sun, 2009-06-12 Due to its rapid development in recent years hematopathology has become a very complicated discipline The current development is mainly in two aspects the new classification of lymphomas and leukemias and the new techniques The Revised European American Classification of Lymphoid Neoplasms REAL classification and the World Health Organization WHO classification of hematologic neoplasms require not only morphologic criteria but also immunophenotyping and molecular genetics for the diagnosis of hematologic tumors Immunophenotyping is performed by either flow cytometry or immunohistochemistry There are many new monoclonal antibodies and new equipments accumulated in recent years that make immunophenotyping more or more accurate and helpful There are even more new techniques invented in recent years in the field of molecular genetics In cytogenetics the conventional karyotype is supplemented and partly replaced by the fluorescence in situ hybridization FISH technique The current development of gene expression profiling is even more powerful in terms of subtyping the hematologic tumors which may help guiding the treatment and predict the prognosis In molecular biology the tedious Southern blotting technique is largely replaced by polymerase chain reaction PCR The recent development in reverse transcriptase PCR and quantitative PCR makes these techniques even more versatile Because of these new developments hematopathology has become too complicated to handle by a general pathologist Many hospitals have to hire a newly trained hematopathologist to oversee peripheral blood bone marrow and lymph node examinations

These young hematopathologists are geared to the new techniques but most of them are inexperienced in morphology. No matter how well trained a hematopathologist is, he or she still needs to see enough cases so that they can recognize the morphology and use the new techniques to substantiate the diagnosis. In other words, morphology is still the basis for the diagnosis of lymphomas and leukemias. Therefore, a good color atlas is the most helpful tool for these young hematopathologists and for the surgical pathologists who may encounter a few cases of hematologic tumors from time to time. In a busy daily practice, it is difficult to refer to a comprehensive hematologic textbook all the time. There are a few hematologic color atlases on the market to show the morphology of the normal blood cells and hematologic tumor cells. These books are helpful but not enough because tumor cell morphology is variable from case to case and different kinds of tumor cells may look alike and need to be differentiated by other parameters. The best way to learn morphology is through the format of clinical case study. This format is also consistent with the daily practice of hematopathologists and with the pattern in all the specialty board examinations. Therefore, it is a good learning tool for the pathology residents, hematology fellows, as well as medical students. This proposed book will present 83 clinical cases with clinical history, morphology of the original specimen, and a list of differential diagnoses. This is followed by further testing with pictures to show the test results. At the end, a correct diagnosis is rendered with subsequent brief discussion on how the diagnosis is achieved. A few useful references will be cited, and a table will be provided for differential diagnosis in some cases. The major emphasis is the provision of 500 color photos of peripheral blood smears, bone marrow aspirates, core biopsy, lymph node biopsy, and biopsies of other solid organs that are involved with lymphomas and leukemias. Pictures of other diagnostic parameters such as flow cytometric histograms, immunohistochemical stains, cytogenetic karyotypes, fluorescence in situ hybridization, and polymerase chain reaction will also be included. A comprehensive approach with consideration of clinical, morphologic, immunophenotypic, and molecular genetic aspects is the best way to achieve a correct diagnosis. After reading this book, the reader will learn to make a diagnosis not only based on the morphology alone but also in conjunction with other parameters.

PREFACE Since 9 11 the veterinary care of Military Working Dogs MWDs has assumed a greater importance The role of the working dog has never been more visible and more appreciated At this writing there are a large number of MWDs deployed throughout the world in support of the Global War on Terrorism Many people both in and out of uniform are coming to realize that MWDs are among the most valuable and cost effective counterterrorism tools we have Before 9 11 detector dogs and their skills were largely taken for granted even downplayed Comments like MWDs are low tech and Dogs will be replaced by sensors imaging techniques and computers were not uncommon Detector dogs have become a very visible front line protective measure against bomb threats check out the headlines on suicide bombers to see what our terrorist enemies are up to Then check out the film clips that show security forces in action the dogs are everywhere These are reminders that no other tool in the arsenal can match the efficiency mobility adaptability and field readiness of a working dog So what's new why publish a new edition now Yes 9 11 did change things this edition now has guidelines for MWDs exposed to Anthrax This third edition of the Handbook also contains new information about the prophylactic laparoscopic assisted gastropexy program that aims to protect our most at risk dogs from GDV We also provide guidelines on transitioning from once daily feeding to feeding two meals a day the Dog Center now feeds over 500 MWDs twice a day Additionally we have updated information about MWD Adoption a program that has come of age in the 2 years since the publication of the second edition Also in an effort to provide a one stop resource for working dog policy this edition now incorporates topics that were formerly available only as VETCOM policy letters These and other revisions make this new MWD Handbook one of the most up to date resources for military veterinarians caring for MWDs and other Federal Agency working dogs All veterinary personnel involved in anesthesia should familiarize themselves with these standards as some previously used agents such as butorphanol acepromazine glycopyrrolate combination tiletamine zolazepam and xylazine have been removed from the guidance The world will continue to change and our veterinary care will also change as our knowledge new technology and improved therapeutics become available Our commitment to the health care of MWDs is a constant Keep up the good work
