Bush administration The subject of Weapons of Mass Persuasion is a war in which American patriotism became so mired in commercial jingoism that the demarcations between entertainment and political conduct disappeared completely In this engaging and disturbing book Paul Rutherford shows how the marketing campaign for the war against Iraq was constructed and carried out He argues that not only was the campaign a new chapter in the presentation of real-time war as pop culture but that its deeper implications have now come to constitute part of the history of modern democracy Situating the war against Iraq within an existing tradition of war as narrative spectacle and more broadly commodity Rutherford offers a brief overview of the history of civic advertising and propaganda then examines in detail the different dimensions of three weeks of war presented to North Americans as it became a branded conflict processed and cleansed to appeal to the well-established tastes of veteran consumers of popular culture Including incisive analyses of visual material speeches editorial cartoons and media political commentary but particularly news reports of such sound-bite events as the bombing of Baghdad the toppling of the Hussein statue and the rescue of captured soldier Private Jessica Lynch as well as extensive polling data from around the world and interviews with the actual consumers of war Weapons of Mass Persuasion chronicles the making of a Hollywood war fast-paced and heroic pitting the forces of good against the forces of evil to achieve a triumphant sanitized and commodified outcome Not since music warning labels specifically the Parental Advisory Label PAL and the Parents Music Resource Center PMRC It aims to answer these questions How could the PMRC trigger a debate on music lyrics as a negative influence on children that led to the introduction of the PAL in the long run What did the implementation of the PAL warning mean for musicians and how had the perception of music changed so that the advisory label was deemed necessary The central thesis is that through the discourse on explicit lyrics certain music was marked as an actual threat to children and society and consequently started to be perceived as such By the way in which the discourse evolved and how other actors conducted themselves in the debates this understanding of certain music was repeatedly re negotiated and connected to other current discourses such as discourses on family values sexuality youth culture generational conflicts and social problems Through this the understanding of certain music as a threat to children and society was constantly renewed The book analyses the PMRC s campaign on explicit lyrics and provides insights into their strategy and success from a historical perspective Jesse
