Postwar Europe and the Early Cold War

Objectives

Describe the war, its aftermath

1. explain the Cold War and its effects around the world;
2. describe how international peacekeeping organizations established support points and secondary fronts, after the war;
3. evaluate American Cold War foreign policies, especially its strategies;
4. explain how ideological motives shaped the Cold War.

The Cold War

The war's aftermath is the difference between a world of peace and a world of warfare.

The United States had defeated the Axis powers, and the war was over. But the situation for peace was unclear. At the time, a Conference on International Organization, organized for the establishment of power in postwar Europe, which was led by President Harry Truman, discussed the United Nations and security. After several sessions, the four major powers had their meeting in November 1945.

The Soviet Union was a communist nation whose ideology was based on collectivism and socialism.

The United States, in contrast, was a capitalist country with a free market and a capitalist system.

Each nation feared that the other system would spread the other's ideology.
