Speaking Truths Valerie Chepp, 2022-02-11 The twenty first century is already riddled with protests demanding social justice and in every instance young people are leading the charge But in addition to protesters who take to the streets with handmade placards are young adults who engage in less obvious change making tactics In Speaking Truths sociologist Valerie Chepp goes behind the scenes to uncover how spoken word poetry and young people's participation in it contributes to a broader understanding of contemporary social justice activism including this generation's attention to the political importance of identity well being and love Drawing upon detailed observations and in depth interviews Chepp tells the story of a diverse group of young adults from Washington D C who use spoken word to create a more just and equitable world Outlining the contours of this approach she interrogates spoken word activism's emphasis on personal storytelling and truth the strategic uses of aesthetics and emotions to politically engage across difference and the significance of healing in sustainable movements for change Weaving together their poetry and personally told stories Chepp shows how poets tap into the beautiful emotional personal and therapeutic features of spoken word to empathically connect with others advance intersectional and systemic analyses of inequality and make social justice messages relatable across a diverse public By creating allies and forging connections based on friendship professional commitments lived experiences emotions artistic kinship and political views this activist approach is highly integrated into the everyday lives of its practitioners online and face to face Chepp argues that spoken word activism is a product of and a call to action against the neoliberal era in which poets have come of age characterized by widening structural inequalities and increasing economic and social vulnerability She illustrates how this deeply personal and intimate activist approach borrows from builds upon and diverges from previous social movement paradigms

Spotlighting the complexity and mutual influence of modern day activism and the world in which it unfolds Speaking Truths contributes to our understanding of contemporary social change making and how neoliberalism has shaped this political generation's experiences with social injustice Facebook Marriage Darrion Assawn, 2012-08-27 Meeting someone online is fine until you run into someone full of lies and deception Before you run off and marry someone from a foreign country read my true story first it might make you think twice

Food for Thought Colleen M. Heflin, Madonna Harrington Meyer, 2025-09-05 While food insecurity among households with children often makes the headlines a quieter issue that receives much less attention is the food insecurity faced by older adults In 2023 over nine percent of Americans age sixty and older were food insecure Without policy intervention that number is only expected to grow as the U S population continues to age In Food for Thought social policy scholar Colleen M Heflin and sociologist Madonna Harrington Meyer illuminate the challenges faced by food insecure older adults Through analysis of national data sets and interviews with lower income older adults Heflin and Harrington Meyer describe why many older adults do not have enough money to afford food and other essentials As a result of chronic economic disadvantage food insecure older adults are often forced to make budget trade offs between food and other expenses In these trade offs food typically ranks below housing and energy costs and competes with other household bills such as medical costs transportation and phone and internet coverage While finances play a large role nonfinancial factors such as poor physical cognitive and mental health access to healthy food and transportation challenges also contribute to food insecurity in old age In the face of these difficulties food insecure older adults may go hungry skip meals or eat unhealthy foods to help make ends meet While SNAP and community based programs such as food pantries and home delivered meals are intended to help address the issue of food insecurity they are typically inadequate to address the needs of food insecure older adults SNAP has enrollment and maintenance procedures that are particularly difficult for older adults to navigate pays out an insufficient amount of money to cover food costs and varies greatly by state Availability of community programs varies by municipality often lacks nutritious foods that are complementary to health conditions common among older adults and can be difficult to access due to a lack of reliable transportation disability or cost Heflin and Harrington Meyer advocate for addressing all the issues that increase older adults risk of food insecurity not just financial barriers They suggest updating food insecurity screening tools to include these factors increasing SNAP benefits and income support for older adults and other policies to help combat food insecurity in older adults Food for Thought highlights the increasingly important issue of food insecurity in old age and lays bare the overlooked challenges faced by food insecure older adults
