A Journey into the Nonlinear World Jüri Engelbrecht, 2024-07-30 This is a personal story about being involved in the study of nonlinear phenomena for more than half a century The focus is on the development of ideas and the resulting knowledge This is the visible part of research but much is usually hidden The author describes how the ideas were generated and how an invisible college of friends and colleagues has emerged The presentation is spiced by thoughts about the beauty of science and philosophical considerations on the complex world where nonlinear interactions play an important role The book is in some sense a biography but not so much about the personal life of the author it is about science and its actors Based on the author's experience in many European research centres and science policy institutions it reflects on the development of knowledge in nonlinear dynamics as well as science policy actions over the second half of the 20th century and the first quarter of the 21st century Graduates and postgraduates interested in the progress of research will find the book particularly engaging

The Metaphysics of Action David-Hillel Ruben, 2018-06-25 In this book the author provides an account of three central ideas in the philosophy of action trying to act acting or doing and one's action causing further consequences In all three cases novel theories of these phenomena are offered trying to act is not a particular mental or physical act but can be explained using conditionals that action is not the same as causing something to happen and in the case of a special but important subset of actions for example the opening of a window the action is identical to the event of the window s opening A result of this last account is that it places actions out in the world sometimes far removed in time and space from the actor s body The world is full of action actions do not just exist in the many little islands of space and time that all of our bodies inhabit In the final chapter Ruben describes and discusses a skeptical challenge to the idea that we can ever know whether or not someone else has acted rather than just passive events having happened to that person
