Ratemaking in International Air Transport Peter Haanappel, 2013-06-29 Ratemaking in international air transport is a matter of vital importance for airlines consumers and Governments For airlines because the level of international air fares and rates forms one of the bases of their profit making ability For consumers because that level determines whether they can afford the use of international air transport For Governments because they as the guardians of the interests of both the airlines and the consumers have the task to strike a just balance between those interests International air fares and rates are of two kinds scheduled and non scheduled The International Air Transport Association IATA the trade association of the world s scheduled international airlines determines under Governmental supervision and control uniform fares and rates for scheduled international air services These services account for approximately seventy five percent of total international air traffic The remaining twenty five percent consists of non scheduled or charter international air services International charter air fares and rates are by and large set by the free forces of the marketplace and compete with scheduled international IATA air fares and rates This book studies both scheduled and charter international air fares and rates It examines the role of airlines airline associations and Governments in the international ratemaking process Furthermore it analyses the competitive relationship between charter and scheduled international air fares and rates

Mastering the Travel Intermediaries Ben Vinod, 2024-06-25 This book chronicles the role of travel intermediaries global distribution systems GDS travel management companies TMC and online travel agencies OTA in the distribution of travel products The book covers the historical development of these intermediaries and explores their current state and future prospects Almost six decades after the introduction of computerized reservations systems and four decades after the introduction of Global Distribution Systems that allowed travel agents to make automated airline bookings the distribution of air products is amid a major transition A fundamental change is pricing power which shifts from the GDSs to the airlines for the indirect channel These changes are driven by advancements in technology market economics and airline cost controls leading to the emergence of new revenue models that will permanently alter the landscape of air distribution As a result travel intermediaries are experiencing the effects of these turbulent times and must adopt innovative approaches and initiatives to adapt and transform their business models rather than maintaining the status quo In addition to the ongoing transformation over the next decade the advancements in emerging technologies like blockchain and decentralized digital identity will further revolutionize the distribution landscape across all sectors of the travel industry
