

IB Business Management HL

Unit 1 : Business organization and environment

2.1 – Introduction to business management

Must know – Nature of business activity in each sector
– The impact of sectoral change on business activity

If the secondary sector increased:

- The GDP increases which leads to the increased standard of living
- Lower imports and higher exports
- More jobs are created
- More tax is paid to the government
- Value is added before export rather than exporting unprocessed products

Problems:

- Movement of people from the village to the city (overpopulation)
- Difficulties in recruiting and retaining staff
- Increased import of raw materials
- Pollution
- Expansion of multinationals within the country

Implications:

- Increased spending on services than goods
- More competition for manufacturing from other countries – increased imports
- Employment patterns change – skills shortage

INDIVIDUAL ACTIVITY

- Choose 1 country and research how the sectors have changed over time.
- Answer the following questions.

With reference to Country X, explain one advantage and one disadvantage of sectoral change on business activity. (4 marks)

Spain's economy has been largely dominated by the primary sector until the 21st century. Only in the past few decades, the country has moved from prioritizing their exports such as fish, fruits, vegetables, cereals, vines and olives to focusing more on the tertiary sector including their trade and tourism.

An advantage of this sectoral change on the business activity is that there is an increase in the amount of jobs available. As businesses begin to focus more on the provision of services such as tourism in Spain, which now accounts for 11% of the annual GDP, the demand for
