

Advanced Placement U.S. History

2014 Summer Assignment

Introduction

All work must be hand-written. It will be collected on the first day of school. No late work will be accepted. Your knowledge of this material will be evaluated on a timed exam. Use the multiple choice questions and identifications to study for the exam. No other materials will be permitted during the assessment. The date of the evaluation will be announced during the first week of school.

Part 1: Read and take notes on AMSCO Chapters 1 – 3. Organize your notes into four separate categories (i.e. Political, Social, Economic, and Cultural). Use the following criteria to correctly place your selected evidence/factual information in the most appropriate category:

Political: You will place any historical evidence or information into this category that relates to laws or public policy making. You can also include anything that has to do with government actions, undertakings, or endeavors.

Social: You will place any historical evidence or information into this category that has to do with gender roles, marriage/divorce rates, population rates or shifts, mass migrations, social mobility, birth rates, etc.

Economic: You will place any historical evidence or information into this category that has to do with wages/salaries, recession/depression, economic philosophy/practices, employment/unemployment rates, natural resources, profitability, etc.

Cultural: You will place any historical evidence or information into this category that has to do with religion, traditions, customs, morals, virtues, tenants, revivals, etc.

Part 2: Complete the multiple-choice questions at the end of AMSCO Chapters 1 - 3. Write your answers on separate sheets of paper identified by their chapter headings.

Part 3: Read the instructions for writing appropriate identifications. Complete identification summaries for the terms below.

Part 4: Use APPARTS to deconstruct the given documents in each of the assigned chapters.

How to Write Proper Identifications: What is your teacher looking for?

An identification (ID) is not a definition. You are not to use a dictionary to look up any of the terms and write the answer. An ID goes beyond defining and asks the AP student to critically analyze an event or person. When writing IDs, paragraphs and proper sentences are not necessarily required. Bullet points are also acceptable as long as they conform to the steps outlined below.

Step 1 Tell what the event is or who the person is. This is similar to a definition and will be 1 -2 sentences.

Step 2 Explain the event or person. Tell what happened and explain what people, country, colony, state, etc. was involved. This could be about 2-3 sentences.

Step 3 (THE MOST IMPORTANT!) Tell the significance of the event or person. Explain the impact of the event or person on that historical era or US history overall. This is the essential question. SO WHAT IS THE BIG DEAL? Why is this person relevant? Do we and should we still care about this event or person? Why or Why not? This is about 2-3 sentences.
