

DNA Structure and Replication

How is genetic information stored and copied?

Why?

Deoxyribonucleic acid or DNA is the molecule of heredity. It contains the genetic blueprint for life. For organisms to grow and repair damaged cells, each cell must be capable of accurately copying itself. So how does the structure of DNA allow it to copy itself so accurately?

Model 1 – The Structure of DNA

1. Refer to the diagram in Model 1.

a. What are the three parts of a nucleotide?

Deoxyribose sugar, Phosphate, Nitrogen-containing base.

b. What kind of sugar is found in a nucleotide?

Deoxyribose

c. Which nucleotide component contains nitrogen?

bases (A,T,G,C)

d. Name the four nitrogen bases shown in Model 1.

Adenine, Thymine, Guanine, Cytosine

2. DNA is often drawn in a "ladder model." Locate this drawing in Model 1.

a. Circle a single nucleotide on each side of the ladder model of DNA.

Gaia Connections Alan S. Miller, 2003 Gaia Connections addresses several arenas of concern as humankind faces an escalating ecological and moral crisis in this new millennium Beginning with an overview of the history of philosophy and the importance of traditional thinking on modern day ethical reflection the book then looks at the development of theories of justice the problems of equity in global human relations the inability of existing economic systems to resolve our human and environmental dilemmas the unnatural connections now obtaining between genuine human need and the technological drift of science the new genetics and reproductive technologies and the nature of modern war The study concludes with some historical perspectives on American environmental history and the urgent need for change in our ecoethical social and value systems The principal focal areas of the original edition are continued the actual state of the global environment today the imperative for the development of sustainable economic and resource systems the movement within much of science toward an almost universal biological determinism and the need for a reaffirmation of an ethical value system which places the needs of people before the needs of property and profits The revised edition not only updates these data and the concerns of the original book but also visits a number of new issues the movement for environmental justice the connections between global poverty and the now almost universal allegiance to a new world market and free trade system the progress and the dilemmas of molecular biology and genetic engineering and the growing disarray within the global systems of political economy

Biology and Management of Bactrocera and Related Fruit Flies Anthony R Clarke, 2019-07-12 Throughout Asia Australia and the Pacific and increasingly in Africa the primary horticultural insect pests are fruit flies belonging to the genera Bactrocera, Zeugodacus and Dacus (Diptera: Tephritidae: Dacini). The Dacini is a hugely diverse clade of nearly 900 species endemic to the rainforests of Asia, Australia and the western Pacific and the savannas and woodlands of Africa. All these species lay their eggs into fleshy fruits and vegetables where the maggots feed, therefore destroying the fruit. In addition to being crop pests, dacines are also invasive pests of major quarantine importance and their presence in production areas can significantly impact market access opportunities. This broad text provides a rapid introduction to this economically and ecologically important group which includes species such as the Oriental fruit fly B. dorsalis, Melon fly Z. cucurbitae, Queensland fruit fly B. tryoni and the Olive fly B. oleae. Broken into three primary sections, it first explores the evolutionary history, systematic relationships, taxonomy and species level diagnosis of the Dacini flies. The following biology section covers their life history, population demography, behaviour and ecology and natural enemies. The final section of the book covers the management of these flies with chapters on pre-harvest, post-harvest and regulatory controls. Each chapter concludes with a list of key monographs, papers or book chapters for further reading. This book will be of interest to field entomologists, extension officers, quarantine officers and market access negotiators as well as students of applied entomology and pest management.
