Dairy Science Rupesh S. Chavan, Megh R. Goyal, 2018-02-02 This volume covers a selection of important novel technological interventions in dairy science from the physical properties of milk and other milk products to nonthermal processing of milk. It also discusses safety methods in dairy science which includes cleaning in place and techniques to determine adulteration in milk. Milk is a perishable commodity and being rich in nutrients it acts as the perfect substrate for the growth of microflora, sometimes dangerous for consumption. To reduce this, different thermal and nonthermal techniques are used. Thermal treatments are common techniques used for extending the shelf life of milk such as, for example, pasteurization, sterilization and UHT, but loss of nutrients is a concern associated with these treatments. Nonthermal treatments like high pressure processing, pulse electric field, ultra sonication and irradiation are also explored in the processing of milk to minimize the loss of nutrients as compared to thermal treatment. Post process contamination is also a major factor that can affect the shelf life of milk and safe packaging plays an important role when the milk and milk products are stored at refrigeration or ambient temperature. Many advances in these dairy technologies are presented in this informative volume. Technological Interventions in Dairy Science: Innovative Approaches in Processing, Preservation and Analysis of Milk Products will prove valuable for industrial professionals, scientists, regulatory personnel, consultants, academics, students and field related personnel. The book also attempts to bridge the gap between research and industrial application of recent techniques. The Mammals of the Southern African Sub-region J. D. Skinner, Christian T. Chimimba, 2005-11-15 This comprehensive volume covers all mammals that occur naturally on the African mainland south of the Cunene and Zambezi rivers and also in the subregion's coastal waters. Extensively revised and updated for the new edition, it now includes the latest data from mammal research in southern Africa along with the radical taxonomic changes across all levels of mammalian classification. Containing contributions from specialists on each mammalian order, each species description has been reviewed by a range of independent and internationally recognised authorities. Along with the latest taxonomic information, the distribution maps and illustrations have been updated and redrawn; several new colour plates have been added and the whole design has been enhanced to aid access to key information. This is the most comprehensive and up to date survey of southern African mammals and forms an essential reference for zoologists, evolutionary biologists and anyone wanting an overview of the region's wildlife.
