The Oxford Handbook of Metamemory John Dunlosky, Sarah Uma K. Tauber, 2016. The Oxford Handbook of Metamemory investigates the human ability to evaluate and control learning and information retrieval processes. Each chapter in this authoritative guide highlights a different facet of metamemory research including classical metamemory judgments applications of metamemory research to the classroom and courtroom and cutting edge perspectives on continuing debates and theory. Chapters also provide broad historical overviews of each research area and discussions of promising directions for future research. The breadth and depth of coverage on offer in this Handbook make it ideal for seminars on metamemory or metacognition. It would also be a valuable supplement for advanced courses on cognitive psychology of use especially to graduate students and more seasoned researchers who are interested in exploring metamemory for the first time.

News As Discourse Teun A. van Dijk, 2013-10-28. First Published in 1990. This book presents a new interdisciplinary theory of news in the press. Against the background of developments in discourse analysis it is argued that news should be studied primarily as a form of public discourse. Whereas in much mass communication research the economic social or cultural dimensions of news and news media are addressed the present study emphasizes the importance of an explicit structural analysis of news reports. Such an analysis should provide a qualitative alternative to traditional methods of content analysis. Also attention is paid to processes of news production by journalists and news comprehension by readers in terms of the social cognitions of news participants. In this way news structures can also be explicitly linked to social practices and ideologies of news making and indirectly to the institutional and macro sociological contexts of the news media.
