Encyclopedia of Human Development Neil J. Salkind, 2006 Publisher description

Building Community to Create Equitable, Inclusive and Compassionate Schools through Relational

Approaches Joan G Mowat, 2022-11-30 This book draws on an extensive international literature and policy context from a wide range of fields of enquiry to challenge the orthodoxies and systemic issues that serve to marginalise children and young people and lead the way for schools to become more equitable inclusive and compassionate in their practice With a particular focus on children with social emotional and behavioural mental health needs it critiques policy and practice as they pertain to behaviour management and school discipline in the UK and the USA and offers alternative perspectives based on collaborative and relational approaches to promoting positive behaviour and building community Each chapter features reflection points to provoke discussion as well as offering additional suggested reading culminating in a discussion of the role of school leaders in leading for social justice Ultimately this book will be of benefit to scholars researchers and students working in the fields of behaviour management inclusion and special needs education and education policy and politics more broadly It will also offer substantial appeal to education professionals school leaders and those with a locus on the mental health and wellbeing of children and young people

Human Behavior for Social Work Practice Wendy L.

Haight, Edward H. Taylor, Ruth Soffer-Elnekave, 2020 The primary goal of this text is to support social work students in HBSE 1 courses to develop a conceptual framework for understanding and meeting the challenges they will likely encounter in 21st century practice Through contemporary scholarship in human development ecology and systems theory we build on social work's classic bio psycho social spiritual framework Our interdisciplinary developmental ecological systems framework addresses the ways in which human beings shape and are shaped within complex and dynamic national and international contexts across the lifespan We attempt to establish a bridge between undergraduate courses in the social behavioral and biological sciences and social work practice courses We begin by establishing a framework for understanding human behavior in the social environment through chapters providing an historical overview of the interdisciplinary roots of the developmental ecological systems framework the brain and development and the role of empirical evidence on social work practice Then we examine social work issues at various points in human development using specific programs and policies to illustrate developmentally and culturally sensitive social work practice These chapters include excerpts from interviews with practicing social workers Part 3 focuses on social work issues affecting individuals across the lifespan and around the globe through chapters on disability and stigmatization race racism and resistance women and gender and terrorism Life Span Human Development Carol K. Sigelman, Linda De George, Kimberley Cunial, Elizabeth A.
