Project and Program Management Mitchell L. Springer, 2019-03-15 Choosing the right people to carry out a project is essential to its success When multiple projects are combined into a complex program the human aspect becomes even more important This book is the first to truly balance a complete account of the technical aspects of project and program management with a practical approach to understanding and developing the core competencies required to accomplish desired goals On the technical side this book is a complete introduction to predicting costs setting schedules and assessing risks On the people side it sheds new light on how to mold different personality types into a team how to motivate the team's members and how to produce extraordinary results. The author details the essential parts of the program management approach, describing the best way to define, organize, and schedule the work to be done, identifying risks, and controlling costs during the whole process. This fourth edition has been significantly revised, with every chapter updated. The volume considers the magnitude of recent social, political, and technological changes, and the impact is represented throughout this book. Included are insights from numerous students who bring to the forefront their current real-world practices from their individual businesses, industries, and disciplines.

Skills for Helping Professionals Anne M. Geroski, 2016-01-04. Written specifically for non-clinical undergraduate students but also relevant to graduate studies in helping professions. Skills for Helping Professionals by Anne M. Geroski focuses on helping students develop the skills they need to effectively initiate and maintain helping relationships. After exploring the literature, identifying critical components of helping relationships, and briefly reviewing developmental and helping theories, the text covers such topics as the helping process, self-awareness, and ethics in helping, and then focuses on specific helping skills such as listening and hearing, empathy, reflecting, paraphrasing, questioning, clarifying, exploring, and offering feedback, encouragement, and psycho-education. The final chapters focus on individuals in crisis and helping in groups.

Nurse as Educator: Principles of Teaching and Learning for Nursing Practice Susan B. Bastable, 2021-12-15. Nurse as Educator: Principles of Teaching and Learning for Nursing Practice, Sixth Edition, prepares nurse educators, clinical nurse specialists, and nurse practitioners and students for their ever-increasing role in patient teaching, health education, and health promotion. One of the most outstanding and unique features of this text is that it focuses on multiple audiences, therefore making it applicable to both undergraduate and graduate nursing courses. The Sixth Edition features coverage of relevant topics in nursing education and health promotion, such as health literacy, teaching people with disabilities, the impact of gender and socioeconomic factors on learning, technology for teaching and learning, and the ethical, legal, and economic foundations of the educational process.

The Handbook of Life-Span Development, Volume 2, 2010-08-09. In the past fifty years, scholars of human development have been moving from studying change in humans within sharply defined periods to seeing many more of these phenomena as more profitably studied over time and in relation to other processes. The Handbook of Life-Span Development, Volume 2: Social and Emotional Development presents the study of human development conducted by the best scholars in the 21st century. Social workers, counselors, and public health workers will receive coverage of the social and emotional aspects of human change across the lifespan.

Understanding Ageing for Nurses and Therapists Wilfred McSherry, Linda Rykkje, Susan Thornton, 2021-06-08. This volume is a practical resource for all those responsible for caring for older people across health and social care. It provides a comprehensive and holistic approach, helping nurses, therapists, and social care professionals to better understand the impact of ageing upon the person and wider society. A unique feature of this text is the focus upon positive ageing and the attempt to dispel and challenge some of the myths, prejudices, and negative attitudes that still prevail towards ageing and older people. A key objective of the book is to introduce practitioners to some of the neglected or under-addressed aspects of ageing, such as spirituality, sexuality, and LGBT. Chapters are written in an engaging and interactive style and where appropriate draw upon case studies and scenarios to maximize engagement, developing competence by informing knowledge, attitudes, and skills. The text introduces the practitioner to key dimensions of what it is to be a person, physically, psychologically, socially, and spiritually, and how these contribute to the ageing process and can enhance the quality of life of older people. Irrespective of whether one cares for older people in an acute hospital setting or domiciliary home care, this text will be of relevance. The material and content transcend health and social care boundaries, providing valuable contemporary evidence that can inform and shape practice. Above all, this text will encourage reflection, dialogue, and engagement with some fundamental aspects of ageing, challenging attitudes, values, and behaviour so that a more positive and balanced insight towards ageing is fostered. This book will ensure that self-awareness and professional practice are enriched and informed, and the practitioner has a holistic understanding of ageing that will enable them to care for older people with compassion, dignity, and respect.
