successful Code of Practice for Project Management for Construction Development which was first published in 1992 and is currently in its fifth edition Both Codes of Practice were developed by representatives from the major professional institutions associated with the built environment including the CIOB RICS RIBA ICE and APM as well as from key government departments domestic and international corporations and the university sector By aligning coordinating and managing a number of related projects as a programme benefits that would not have been possible to realise had the projects been managed independently can be delivered This Code of Practice is intended to provide practical coverage of the general processes and procedures to be followed when managing such a programme It sets out the necessary requirements for effective and efficient programme management while at the same time ensuring systematic quality control and documentation through governance arrangements Written for programme and project management professionals in construction whether working as contractors or clients the book will also be of interest to advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students of construction and related disciplines

Value Management Mr Adam J Davies, Mr Roger H Davies, 2012-09-28 Change programmes in both private and public sectors have a poor record of delivering their intended value The reasons given most often for their failure include lack of executive support or buy in from key users loose requirements definition weak programme management and plain wishful thinking They rarely include technical limitations Value Management puts forward the view that the true problem lies in failing to understand the causal links between the intended stakeholder outcomes and the actual programme outputs Repeating the pattern of failure can be avoided by asking two questions Before implementation what capabilities must a change programme deliver when and in what order so as to cause intended value against a defined purpose with speed and certainty During and after implementation what minor adjustments and or major shifts are needed to be certain that the programme remains on purpose and on value and two answers to be given Target time and align change programmes to deliver maximum intended value to stakeholders the baseline business case track and respond to changes during and beyond implementation to ensure that the programme actually delivers or exceeds intended value value realisation The authors show how by asking and answering these questions direction and delivery of any programme can be clarified and greater economic value achieved
