Muggles, Monsters and Magicians Claudia Fenske, 2008 Originally published as the author's dissertation doctoral Philipps Universität Marburg 2006 Minding Movies David Bordwell, Kristin Thompson, 2011-03-15 David Bordwell and Kristin Thompson are two of America's preeminent film scholars You would be hard pressed to find a serious student of the cinema who hasn't spent at least a few hours huddled with their seminal introduction to the field Film Art now in its ninth edition or a cable television junkie unaware that the Independent Film Channel sagely christened them the Critics of the Naughts Since launching their blog Observations on Film Art in 2006 the two have added web virtuosos to their growing list of accolades pitching unconventional long form pieces engaged with film artistry that have helped to redefine cinematic storytelling for a new age and audience Minding Movies presents a selection from over three hundred essays on genre movies art films animation and the business of Hollywood that have graced Bordwell and Thompson's blog Informal pieces conversational in tone but grounded in three decades of authoritative research the essays gathered here range from in depth analyses of individual films such as Slumdog Millionaire and Inglourious Basterds to adjustments of Hollywood media claims and forays into cinematic humor For Bordwell and Thompson the most fruitful place to begin is how movies are made how they work and how they work on us Written for film lovers these essays on topics ranging from Borat to blockbusters and back again will delight current fans and gain new enthusiasts Serious but not solemn vibrantly informative without condescension and above all illuminating reading Minding Movies offers ideas sure to set film lovers thinking and keep them returning to the silver screen Studia Philosophica Wratislaviensis Damian Leszczyński, Artur Pacewicz, 2013-12-01 The set of philosophical papers How to Justify Torture Alex Adams, 2019-09-10 From Batman Begins to Tom Clancy How to Justify Torture shows how contemporary culture creates simplified narratives about good guy torturers and bad guy victims how dangerous this is politically and what we can do to challenge it If there was a bomb hidden somewhere in a major city and you had the person responsible in your custody would you torture them to get the information needed to stop the bomb exploding preventing a devastating terrorist attack and saving thousands of lives This is the ticking bomb scenario a thought experiment designed to demonstrate that torture can be justified In How to Justify Torture cultural critic Alex Adams examines the ticking bomb scenario in depth looking at the ways it is presented in films novels and TV shows from Batman Begins and Dirty Harry to French military thrillers and home invasion narratives By critiquing its argument step by step this short provocative book reminds us that despite what the ticking bomb scenario will have us believe torture can never be justified Monsters, Mushroom Clouds, and the Cold War M. Keith Booker, 2001-05-30 The 1950s are widely regarded as the golden age of American science fiction This book surveys a wide range of major science fiction novels and films from the long 1950s the period from 1946 to 1964 when the tensions of the Cold War were at their peak The American science fiction novels and films of this period clearly reflect Cold War anxieties and tensions through their focus on such themes as alien invasion and nuclear holocaust In this sense they resemble the observations of social and cultural critics during the same period Meanwhile American science fiction of the long 1950s also engages its historical and political contexts through an interrogation of phenomena such as alienation and routinization that can be seen as consequences of the development of American capitalism during this period This economic trend is part of the rise of the global phenomenon that Marxist theorists have called late capitalism Thus American science fiction during this period reflects the rise of late capitalism and participates in the beginnings of postmodernism described by Frederic Jameson as the cultural logic of late capitalism

Donoghue, 2010-05-25 From a writer of astonishing versatility and erudition the much admired literary critic novelist short story writer and scholar Dazzling The Washington Post One of those rare writers who seems to be able to work on any register any time any atmosphere and make it her own The Observer a book that explores the little known literary tradition of love between women in Western literature from Chaucer and Shakespeare to Charlotte Brontë Dickens Agatha Christie and many more Emma Donoghue brings to bear all her knowledge and grasp to examine how desire between women in English literature has been portrayed from schoolgirls and vampires to runaway wives from cross dressing knights to contemporary murder stories Donoghue looks at the work of those writers who have addressed the unspeakable subject examining whether such desire between women is freakish or omnipresent holy or evil heartwarming or ridiculous as she excavates a long obscured tradition of inseparable friendship between women one that is surprisingly central to our cultural history Donoghue writes about the half dozen contrasting girl girl plots that have been told and retold over the centuries metamorphosing from generation to generation What interests the author are the twists and turns of the plots themselves and how these stories have changed or haven't over the centuries rather than how they reflect their time and society Donoghue explores the writing of Sade Diderot Balzac Thomas Hardy H Rider Haggard Elizabeth Bowen and others and the ways in which the woman who desires women has been cast as not quite human as ghost or vampire She writes about the ever present triangle found in novels and plays from the last three centuries in which a woman and man compete for the heroine's love about how and why same sex attraction is surprisingly ubiquitous in crime fiction from the work of Wilkie Collins and Dorothy L Sayers to P D James Finally Donoghue looks at the plotline that has dominated writings about desire between women since the late nineteenth century how a woman's life is turned upside down by the realization that she desires another woman whether she comes to terms with this discovery privately comes out of the closet or is publicly outed She shows how this narrative pattern has remained popular and how it has taken many forms in the works of George Moore Radclyffe Hall Patricia Highsmith and Rita Mae Brown from case history style stories and dramas in and out of the courtroom to schoolgirl love stories and rebellious picaresques A revelation of a centuries old literary tradition brilliant amusing and until now deliberately overlooked
