Batibo,Birgit Smieja,2000 The need of the national language Setswana to participate actively in society politics and democratisation as both national language and lingua franca of Botswana has caused language domination and suffocation on the part of the 25 or so minority languages As a result these languages are now going through a process of language shift and death Consequently their cultures too suffer great losses in order to keep pace with the mainstream society The aim of the book is threefold a to inform the large public both local and international about the sociolinguistic and related issues regarding the minority languages of Botswana b to provide facts about the state and future trends of the minority languages in order to sensitise the public and the relevant authorities about the issues involved and c to present ideas and insights in order to stimulate academic debates on the minority languages Linguists from Botswana as well as from Europe and U S A present their latest field research findings to shed light on the present situation of the minority languages

Kemper,2023-07-31 Mediated Identities Divya Carolyn McMillin,2009 Mediated Identities is an empirical examination of how youth identity is negotiated in urban and rural spaces where cultural economic and political forces compete for the allegiance of the young consumer and worker Rich with fieldwork on teens and television in India Germany South Africa and the United States the book provides a new direction for the critical discussion of youth agency It questions young people as autonomous consumers and examines the interpellatory forces of media and market The application of postcolonial theory produces an incisive analysis of television and other media consumption as part of a process that bolsters the neocolonial imperatives of globalization Simultaneously the book focuses on the opportunism on both sides of the equation on youth particularly in developing economies and the industries that need their cheap labor In such opportunistic contexts Mediated

Identities addresses ethical dilemmas and transformative possibilities Translanguaging, Coloniality and Decolonial Cracks Robyn Tyler, 2023-01-13 In this linguistic ethnography of bilingual science learning in a South African high school the author connects microanalyses of classroom discourse to broader themes of de coloniality in education The book challenges the deficit narrative often used to characterise the capabilities of linguistically minoritised youth and explores the challenges and opportunities associated with leveraging students full semiotic repertoires in learning specific concepts The author examines the linguistic landscape of the school and the beliefs and attitudes of staff and students which produce both coloniality and cracks in the edifice of coloniality A critical translanguaging lens is applied to analyse multilingual and multimodal aspects of students science meaning making in a traditional classroom and a study group intervention Finally the book suggests implications for decolonial pedagogical translanguaging in Southern multilingual classrooms Teaching and Learning Mathematics in Multilingual Classrooms Anjum Halai, Philip Clarkson, 2015-12-17 Contemporary concerns in mathematics education recognize that in the increasingly technological and globalized world with concomitant change in population demographics e g immigration urbanization and a change in the status of languages e g English as a dominant language of science and technology multilingualism in classrooms is a norm rather than an exception Shifts in perspective also view language not simply as an instrument for cognition with all learners equipped with this instrument in service of learning although clearly in the classroom that remains of importance Rather it is now also being acknowledged that language use is inherently political so that the language that gets official recognition in the classroom is invariably the language of the powerful elite or the dominant societal language or in the case of post colonial contexts the language of the colonisers From this socio political role of language in learning quite different issues arise for teaching learning and curriculum for linguistically marginalized learners than that of cognition e g immigrants second language learners other Policies on language in education are being considered and re considered with specific reference to mathematics teaching and learning Given the policy environment globally the proposed publication is timely This edited collection draws on recent emerging insights and understandings about the approaches to improving policy and practice in mathematics education and mathematics teacher education in multilingual settings It presents and discusses critically examples of work from a range of contexts and uses these examples to draw out key issues for research in education in language diverse settings including teaching learning curriculum and fit these with appropriate policy and equity approaches With contributions from all over the world especially novice researchers in low income countries this book is a valuable resource for courses in Mathematics Education and related social sciences both at the graduate and undergraduate levels as well as for students of international development Botswana Notes and Records ,1981
