Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice In the first part of the book four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom In the second part each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms Combining two discourses that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research pathways are grounded in the symbolic narratives and knowledges of young scientists engineers and architects all interlocutors in the research from which this book is based Alala Mamoratwa Welile Odirile Kaiya Amirah Takalani Nosakhele Naila Ambani Khanyisile Itumeleng Ethwasa and Kgnaya provide collective standpoints in the multiplicities within and between the lived lives and told stories of young Black South African women in Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM fields In doing so this compelling work advances possibilities for demythologising scientific endeavour as a white male achievement and shifting knowledge communities across gendered racialised class and national divides This book presents an innovative narrative methodology utilising the myth of the Minotaur to examine the state of the university at the heart of the hierarchical labyrinth in post apartheid South Africa Throughout the work the author wrestles with and self reflexively highlights her own positionality as a white middle class South African woman to examine how this affects the production of this research in ways which serve to preserve the colonial knowledge system With the rise of the Rhodes Must Fall and Fees Must Fall student movement in South Africa demanding for the fall of institutionalised racial hierarchies the author uses the cover image of narrative formations in the spirit of exploration to think with and through undulating networked forms that could possibly forge new psychosocial pathways towards decolonising and reinventing South African universities This work offers a unique conceptual and methodological resource for students and scholars of psychosocial and narrative theory as well as those who are concerned about the politics of higher education both in South Africa and in other contexts around the world
