Belief as Emotion Miriam Schleifer McCormick, 2024-10-31 Belief as Emotion argues that belief is a type of emotion where emotions are understood as irreducibly blended states that transcend the cognitive non cognitive divide containing representational motivational and phenomenological elements On this view to believe is to feel that the way one represents the world is accurate and this feeling is a kind of evaluation This view helps explain a number of puzzling phenomena in epistemology philosophy of mind philosophy of action and philosophy of religion Further thinking of beliefs as emotions helps us to understand the ethics of belief It offers a better understanding of what are sometimes called edge cases of beliefs ones that seem belief like but that are hard to fit into most standard pictures of belief These include delusions religious and political attitudes and belief in the context of trust Given their complicated relationship to evidence and action many theorists claim that such attitudes should not be categorized as beliefs but as a different mental state Belief as Emotion does not force us to exclude states as real beliefs that we pre reflectively think of as beliefs and that does not require us to outsource the work belief seems to do to other mental states The view also illuminates the phenomena of self deception implicit bias and deep disagreement Ideal emotional maintenance is complex thinking of beliefs as emotions acknowledges and embraces this complexity of our doxastic lives

Emotion and Reasoning Isabelle Blanchette, 2013-10-01 The interaction between emotion and cognition is a fundamental issue which has only recently been reintroduced as a legitimate object of study in experimental psychology This book examines the significant impact that affective processes have on reasoning and demonstrates how emotional reasoning cannot simply be equated with faulty reasoning Emotion and Reasoning presents contributions from leading researchers from a variety of disciplines including experimental cognitive psychology cognitive neuroscience clinical neuropsychology and experimental psychopathology The opening chapters consider how emotions affect reasoning processes in individuals living with psychopathology A second section focuses upon experimental investigations of emotion and basic reasoning processes and a final section explores the physiological bases of emotion reasoning interaction Together the chapters in this volume provide a multidisciplinary overview of key topics on emotion and reasoning and a survey of recent research in this area Emotion and Reasoning will be of great interest to advanced students
