The Routledge Companion to Rehabilitative Work in Criminal Justice Pamela Ugwudike, Hannah Graham, Fergus

McNeill, Peter Raynor, Faye S. Taxman, Chris Trotter, 2019-09-12 All the world's criminal justice systems need to undertake direct work with people who have come into their care or are under their supervision as a result of criminal offences. Typically this is organized in penal and correctional services in custody in prisons or in the community supervised by services such as probation. Bringing together international experts, this book is the go-to source for students, researchers, and practitioners in criminal justice looking for a comprehensive and authoritative summary of available knowledge in the field. Covering a variety of contexts, settings, needs, and approaches, and drawing on theory and practice, this Companion brings together over 90 entries offering readers concise and definitive overviews of a range of key contemporary issues on working with offenders. The book is split into thematic sections and includes coverage of Theories and models for working with offenders; Policy contexts of offender supervision and rehabilitation; Direct work with offenders; Control, surveillance, and practice; Resettlement; Application to specific groups including female offenders, young offenders, families, and ethnic minorities; Application to specific needs and contexts such as substance misuse, mental health, violence, and risk assessment; Practitioner and offender perspectives; The development of an evidence base. This book is an essential and flexible resource for researchers and practitioners alike and is an authoritative guide for students taking courses on working with offenders, criminal justice policy, probation, prisons, penology, and community corrections.

Social Work with Children and Families

Steve Rogowski, 2016-04-20 Professional social work has changed considerably over the last forty years, coinciding with the demise of the social democratic consensus of the post-war years and the emergence and now domination of neoliberalism. Rather than the state, through the government of the day, ensuring citizens' basic needs were met via the welfare state, the belief in free market economics entails people having to be self-reliant and self-responsible. This has involved social work with children and families moving from a helping and supportive role to one that is more authoritarian, this often involving telling parents to change their behaviour and lifestyle or face the consequences. This book outlines the development of social work with children and families over the period in question, drawing on the author's unique practice experience and his extensive writings. It charts the highs and lows of social work, the latter including the dominance of managerialism which emphasises speedy completion of bureaucracy so as to ration resources and assess/manage risk. Despite this, the argument is for a critical practice which addresses service users' immediate needs while simultaneously aiming towards a more socially just and equal society. This book is essential reading for everyone interested in social work, including academics, students, practitioners, and managers, both in the UK and overseas. Social care and allied professionals more generally will also find it insightful, as will academics, students, and educators of social policy and related disciplines.

Emotional Labour in Criminal Justice and Criminology

Jake Phillips, Jaime Waters, Chalen Westaby, Andrew Fowler, 2020-06-04 This book is the first volume to explore criminal justice work and criminological research through the lens of emotional labour. A concept first coined 30 years ago, emotional labour seeks to explore the ways in which people manage their emotions in order to achieve the aims of their organisations and the subsequent impact of this is on workers and service users The chapters in this edited collection explore work in a wide range of criminal justice institutions as well as the penal voluntary sector In addition to literature review chapters which consolidate what we already know this book includes case study chapters which extend our knowledge of how emotional labour is performed in specific contexts and in relation to certain types of work Emotional Labour in Criminal Justice and Criminology covers topics such as prisoners who die from natural causes in prison to the work of independent domestic violence advisors and the use of emotion by death penalty lawyers in the US An accessible and compelling read this book presents ground breaking qualitative and quantitative research which will be critical to criminologists criminal justice practitioners students of criminology and academics in the fields of social policy and public service Moving on From Crime and Substance Use Robinson, Anne,Hamilton, Paula,2016-09-21 Desistance is one of the big news stories of the criminological world Research suggests that as offenders turn their backs on crime they often change their identities as well as their behaviour Yet we know much less about how reforming or transforming identity might be affected by gender age or ethnicity This book focuses on diversity and showcases research from a wide range of authors in the field It considers the similarities and differences between desisting from crime and recovering from addiction Taking the desistance and recovery debates in unfamiliar directions it examines the experiences of change for individuals seeking healthier and more successful futures Youth and Crime John Muncie,SAGE Publications Ltd,2021-03-03 The most comprehensive and authoritative textbook on youth crime and youth justice Extensively updated to reflect changes in the youth justice system and contemporary debates around youth crime this fifth edition of Youth and Crime Includes new chapters on developmental and life course theories and punitive justice strategies Has been significantly expanded with new sections on the politicisation of youth crime knife crime and gangs child refugees climate justice child on child homicide and localised criminal exploitation Features increased coverage of policing strategies including sections on policing public space and rethinking youth justice Complete with a new two colour design chapter outlines summary boxes study questions further reading lists useful website lists and a glossary this textbook expertly guides students through their studies in youth and crime The Palgrave Handbook of Education Law for Schools Karen Trimmer,Roselyn Dixon,Yvonne S. Findlay,2018-06-30 This Handbook examines the essential nature of the law within an educational context and asks why there is not greater preparation for this aspect of a teacher s role Principals and teachers across the world now work in increasingly uncertain and challenging environments involving complex legislative frameworks with their roles and responsibilities constantly changing to meet these demands thus it is imperative that educators adapt and acquire new skills relating to child protection and criminal law On a daily basis teachers and practitioners are being challenged to critically examine and evaluate the legal rights and obligations of various stakeholders including students parents educators and administrators However if these skills are not developed the implications will be significant particularly so if principals are deterred from pursuing innovative education strategies due to potential litigation risks. Consequently the chapters will empower principals and teachers in the management of these concerns. This wide ranging handbook including case studies from around the world will be of interest and value to both scholars of education law and practitioners.
