Visualisation and Epistemological Access to Mathematics Education in Southern Africa Marc Schäfer, 2023-04-27 This book demonstrates that using visualisation processes in mathematics education can help to enhance teaching and learning and bridge the inequality gap that exists between well resourced and under resourced schools in Southern Africa Drawing on classroom research conducted in the Southern African region it examines how epistemological access in a context of gross inequality can be constructively addressed by providing research based solutions and recommendations The book outlines the visualisation process as an integral but often overlooked process of mathematics teaching and learning It goes beyond the traditional understanding of visualisation processes such as picture forming and using tools and considers visualisation processes that are semiotic in nature and includes actions such as gestures in combination with language It adds value to the visualisation in mathematics education research discourse and deliberation in Africa With a unique focus on Southern Africa and open avenues for further research and collaboration in the region it will be a highly relevant reading for researchers academics and post graduate students of mathematics education comparative education and social justice education

Evaluation and Decision Models Denis Bouyssou, Thierry Marchant, Marc Pirlot, Patrice Perny, Alexis Tsoukias, P.

Vincke,2012-12-06 1 1 Motivations Deciding is a very complex and difficult task Some people even argue that our ability to make decisions in complex situations is the main feature that distinguishes us from animals it is also common to say that laughing is the main difference Nevertheless when the task is too complex or the interests at stake are too important it quite often happens that we do not know or we are not sure what to decide and in many instances we resort to a decision support technique an informal one we toss a coin we ask an oracle we visit an astrologer we consult an expert we think or a formal one Although informal decision support techniques can be of interest in this book we will focus on formal ones Among the latter we find some well known decision support techniques cost benefit analysis multiple criteria decision analysis decision trees But there are many other ones sometimes not presented as decision support techniques that help making decisions Let us cite but a few examples When the director of a school must decide whether a given student will pass or fail he usually asks each teacher to assess the merits of the student by means of a grade The director then sums the grades and compares the result to a threshold When a bank must decide whether a given client will obtain a credit or not a technique called credit scoring is often used
