International Congress As2020 was held June 7-9, 2021, first time digitally owing to the global COVID-19 pandemic in Wageningen, The Netherlands, and with a title "Arsenic in the Environment: Bridging Science to Practice for Sustainable Development". The Congress addressed the broader context of arsenic research aligned on the following themes: Theme 1: Arsenic in Natural Soil and Water Systems; Theme 2: Arsenic in Agriculture and Food Production; Theme 3: Health Impacts of Arsenic; Theme 4: Technologies for Arsenic Removal from Water; Theme 5: Sustainable Mitigation and Management for Sustainable Development. Arsenic in drinking water and food is a major health issue affecting millions of people in many parts of the world. In recent years, serious cases of arsenic exposure through different environmental matrices have been reported from, for example, Argentina, Bangladesh, Chile, China, Taiwan, Turkey, India, Mexico, UK, USA, Pakistan, Vietnam, as well as other regions in the world. Arsenic can cause a number of carcinogenic and non-carcinogenic adverse effects on human health and therefore human exposure to arsenic should be avoided. Notably, The Netherlands has been in the forefront of research on arsenic removal technology and developed a cutting-edge innovation to remove arsenic to levels below the WHO drinking water guideline to as low as less than 1 µg/L. This has created an enabling environment to discuss on policy issues for defining the new drinking water guideline. The Congress has attracted professionals involved in different segments of interdisciplinary research on arsenic in an open forum and strengthened relations between academia, research institutions, government, and non-governmental agencies, industries, and civil society organizations to share an optimal ambience for exchange of knowledge.

Data and Research to Improve the U.S. Food Availability System and Estimates of Food Loss National Research Council, Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition Board, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on National Statistics, 2015-01-02. The United States Department of Agriculture's USDA's Economic Research Service's ERS Food Availability Data System includes three distinct but related data series on food and nutrient availability for consumption. The data serve as popular proxies for actual consumption at the national level for over 200 commodities, e.g., fresh spinach, beef, and eggs. The core Food Availability (FA) data series provides data on the amount of food available per capita for human consumption in the United States with data back to 1909 for many commodities. The Loss Adjusted Food Availability (LAFA) data series is derived from the FA data series by adjusting for food spoilage, plate waste, and other losses to more closely approximate actual intake. The LAFA data provide daily estimates of the per capita availability amounts adjusted for loss, e.g., in pounds, ounces, grams, and gallons, as appropriate, calories, and food pattern equivalents, i.e., servings of the five major food groups: fruit, vegetables, grains, meat, and dairy, available for consumption, plus the amounts of added sugars and sweeteners and added fats and oils available for consumption. This fiscal year, as part of its initiative to systematically review all of its major data series, ERS decided to review the FADS data system. One of the goals of this review is to advance the knowledge and understanding of the measurement and technical aspects of the data supporting FADS so the data can be maintained and improved.

Data and Research to Improve the U.S. Food Availability System and Estimates of Food Loss is the summary of a workshop convened by the Committee on National Statistics of the National Research Council and the Food and Nutrition Board of the Institute of Medicine to advance knowledge and understanding of the measurement and technical aspects of the data supporting the LAFA data series so that these data series and subsequent food availability and food loss estimates can be maintained and improved. The workshop considered such issues as the effects of termination of selected Census Bureau and USDA data series on estimates for affected food groups and commodities; the potential for using other data sources such as scanner data to improve estimates of food availability; and possible ways to improve the data on food loss at the farm and retail levels and at restaurants. This report considers knowledge gaps, data sources that may be available or could be generated to fill gaps, what can be learned from other countries and international organizations, ways to ensure consistency of treatment of commodities across series, and the most promising opportunities for new data for the various food availability series.

Agribusiness Julian Roche, 2019-08-06. Agribusiness offers a unique introduction to the business of agriculture: what agribusiness is, why it matters, what the role of technology is, how trade fits into the picture, what its key risks are, who is lending and investing, and why, and what returns they are getting. It is both practical in orientation, focusing on the role of managers in the industry as well as that of lenders and investors, and international in scope, drawing on case studies and interviews with key figures all over the world. The text ranges across various agricultural commodities to stress that there is no one size fits all solution, and successful management, lending, or investment in agribusiness requires understanding specifics. Readers are introduced to the economics of the supply and demand of food, the role of agricultural trade, agricultural marketing, and farm management, along with key business aspects including Main drivers of agribusiness, value, Principal risks of agribusinesses, Agribusiness as an investment class, and Agribusiness lending: why, who, and how. This engaging textbook offers a complete guide to the international business of agriculture, which is ideal for all students, scholars, and practitioners. A selection of eResources is also available to supplement this text, and instructors will find PowerPoint slides, discussion questions, case studies, and further teaching materials available to them.
