A Different Voice, a Different Song Caroline Bithell, 2014 A Different Voice A Different Song traces the history of a grassroots scene that has until now operated largely beneath the radar but that has been gently gathering force since the 1970s At the core of this scene today are the natural voice movement founded on the premise that everyone can sing and a growing transnational community of amateur singers participating in multicultural music activity Author Caroline Bithell reveals the intriguing web of circumstances and motivations that link these two trends highlighting their potential with respect to current social political and educational agendas She investigates how and why songs from the world's oral traditions have provided the linchpin for the natural voice movement revealing how the musical traditions of other cultures not only provide a colourful repertory but also inform the ideological methodological and ethical principles on which the movement itself is founded A Different Voice A Different Song draws on long term ethnographic research including participant observation at choir rehearsals performances workshops and camps as well as interviews with voice teachers choir and workshop leaders camp and festival organisers and general participants Bithell shows how amateur singers who are not musically literate can become competent participants in a vibrant musical community and in the process find their voice metaphorically as well as literally She then follows some of these singers as they journey to distant locations to learn new songs in their natural habitat She theorises these trends in terms of the politics of participation the transformative potential of performance building social capital the global village and reclaiming the arts of celebration and conviviality The stories that emerge reveal a nuanced web of intersections between the local and global one which demands a revision of the dominant discourses of authenticity cultural appropriation and agency in the post colonial world and ultimately points towards a more progressive politics of difference A Different Voice a Different Song will be an essential text for practitioners involved in the natural voice movement and other vocal methodologies and choral worlds As a significant study in the fields of ethnomusicology music education and community music the book will also be of interest to scholars studying the democratisation of the voice the dynamics of participation world musics in performance the transformative power of harmony singing and the potential of music making for sustaining community and aiding intercultural understanding

Analysing and Interpreting Recorded Popular Song Allan F. Moore, 2016-04-01 The musicological study of popular music has developed particularly over the past twenty years into an established aspect of the discipline The academic community is now well placed to discuss exactly what is going on in any example of popular music and the theoretical foundation for such analytical work has also been laid although there is as yet no general agreement over all the details of popular music theory However this focus on the what of musical detail has left largely untouched the larger question so what What are the consequences of such theorization and analysis Scholars from outside musicology have often argued that too close a focus on musicological detail has left untouched what they consider to be more urgent questions related to reception and meaning Scholars from inside musicology have responded by importing into musicological discussion various aspects of cultural theory It is in that tradition that this book lies although its focus is slightly different What is missing from the field at present is a coherent development of the what into the so what of music theory and analysis into questions of interpretation and hermeneutics It is that fundamental gap that this book seeks to fill Allan F Moore presents a study of recorded popular song from the recordings of the 1920s through to the present day Analysis and interpretation are treated as separable but interdependent approaches to song Analytical theory is revisited covering conventional domains such as harmony melody and rhythm but does not privilege these at the expense of domains such as texture the soundbox vocal tone and lyrics These latter areas are highly significant in the experience of many listeners but are frequently ignored or poorly treated in analytical work Moore continues by developing a range of hermeneutic strategies largely drawn from outside the field strategies originating in the most part within psychology and philosophy but still deeply r
