The Politics and Governance of Basic Education Brian Levy, Robert Cameron, Ursula Hoadley, Vinodhan Naidoo, 2018-08-24 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education Using the vivid example of South Africa a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making process combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re orient the system towards learning

Elusive Equity Edward B. Fiske, Helen F. Ladd, 2004-07-29 Elusive Equity chronicles South Africa's efforts to fashion a racially equitable state education system from the ashes of apartheid The policymakers who came to power with Nelson Mandela in 1994 inherited an education system designed to further the racist goals of apartheid Their massive challenge was to transform that system which lavished human and financial resources on schools serving white students while systematically starving those serving African coloured and Indian learners into one that would offer quality education to all persons regardless of their race Edward Fiske and Helen Ladd describe and evaluate the strategies that South Africa pursued in its quest for racial equity They draw on previously unpublished data interviews with key officials and visits to dozens of schools to describe the changes made in school finance teacher assignment policies governance curriculum higher education and other areas They conclude that the country has made remarkable progress toward equity in the sense of equal treatment of persons of all races For several reasons however the country has been far less successful in promoting equal educational opportunity or educational adequacy Thus equity has remained elusive The book is unique in combining the perceptive observations of a skilled education journalist with the analytical skills of an academic policy expert Richly textured descriptions of how South Africa s education reforms have affected schools at the grass roots level are combined with careful analysis of enrollment governance and budget data at the school provincial and national levels The result is a compelling and comprehensive study of South Africa s first decade of education reform in the post apartheid period South Africa Survey, 2004 Colonial Office List ..., 1932 Report of the Examinations Conducted by the Council of Higher Education, Newfoundland Newfoundland Council of Higher Education, 1912 Report of the Examinations Conducted by the Council Newfoundland. Education Department, 1898 The Call for African Pride Zandile Dlamini, 2017-10-23 This book is about two of the most prominent leaders of South Africa leaders whose respective roles shaped and influenced South Africa both positively and negatively Those leaders were Dr H F Verwoerd better known historically as an architect of apartheid and Nelson Mandela the doctor of the soul known for his peace and reconciliation policy Verwoerd was a doctor of psychology a profession he used to his advantage to cripple the minds of black men hence black people are still suffering even in the new dispensation from inferiority complex strongly argued in the book by the author The author is appreciative of these two heads of state who came from different backgrounds Verwoerd had no regard whatsoever for black people but in many other ways he was much like Mandela in character and reasoning capacity What cannot be disputed about these two remarkable leaders is that they both created a rich history for South Africa which we owe to both Dr Nelson Mandela and Dr H F Verwoerd Verwoerd with his apartheid policy and Mandela with his peace and reconciliation policy Both had strong characters being idealists and philosophers in their own rights men who stood for what they believed in and held firm to their convictions knowing that greater success comes with pain and at a high price Where they differed was in their outlook on life Ones focus of interest was a minority group whites while Mandelas was on all races including both blacks and whites Hence he received the title of Father of the Nation while Verwoerd was the god of the white people only So the book shall take you on a journey of how these great mens ideals and beliefs had influenced the people of South Africa and the world in general and how detrimental was the policy of apartheid in the lives of many who until this day and age are still struggling to detached themselves from that belief of inferiority They were taught by apartheid and Dr Verwoerd that it defines their existence and that belief keeps holding back the millions of black African people from forging ahead in order to be the greatest they can be as proud Africans irrespective of the way forward presented to them by Dr Nelson Mandela There is a star and a hero in every one of us so the book is taking everyone on a journey to self discovery and pride in their own identity      The Colonial Office List for ... Great Britain.
