Learning across Contexts in the Knowledge Society Ola Erstad,Kristiina Kumpulainen,Åsa Mäkitalo,Kim Christian Schrøder,Pille Pruulmann-Vengerfeldt,Thuridur Jóhannsdóttir,2016-02-10 Developments within the knowledge society especially those resulting from technological innovation have intensified an interest in the relationship between different contexts and multiple sites of learning across what is often termed as formal non formal and informal learning environments The aim of this book is to trace learning and experience across multiple sites and contexts as a means to generate new knowledge about the borders and edges of different practices and the boundary crossings these entail in the learning lives of young people in times of dynamic societal environmental economic and technological change The empirical research discussed in this book has grown out of a Nordic network of researchers. The research initiatives in the Nordic countries tend to avoid the more spectacular debates over the future of the educational institutions that tend to dominate and obscure discussions on education in the knowledge society and which look to models of informal learning whether in the learning communities of workplaces and families or in the new socio technical spaces of the Internet as a source of alternative educational strategies. Rather Nordic researchers more modestly ask whether it is possible to envisage new models of teaching and learning which take seriously both the responsibility to social justice and social wellbeing which at least rhetorically underpinned a commitment to mass education of the 20th century as well as to the radical challenges to traditional educational models offered by the new socio technical spaces and practices of the 21st century

Creation:
"Behold, it was very good." Richard Schaefer, 2019-10-28
 Author Richard A Schaefer was a lifelong communicator fascinated by stories and like any good journalist dug for the facts and verified sources exploring nagging questions such as Is creation or evolution more credible based on science and expert opinions. This book truly represented a personal passion of looking at all sides of the CREATION vs EVOLUTION issue. He called on many experts and theorists including Charles Darwin himself. Surprisingly Darwin was far more skeptical of his own theories than are many PhDs today and admitted to significant holes in his logic. Read for yourself as great thinkers explore the pros and cons of both theories and their variants

The Science of Interest Paul A. O'Keefe, Judith M. Harackiewicz, 2017-08-01
 This exceptional volume analyzes the intricate roles interest plays in cognition, motivation, and learning and daily living with a special focus on its development and maintenance across life domains. Leading experts discuss a spectrum of interest ranging from curiosity to obsession and trace its functions in goal setting, decision making, self regulation, and performance. New research refines the current knowledge on student interest in educational settings and the social contexts of interest with insights into why interest levels change during engagement and in the long run. From these findings contributors address ways to foster and nurture interest in the therapy room and the classroom for optimum benefits throughout life. Among the topics covered: Embedding interest within self regulation; Knowledge acquisition at the intersection of situational and individual interest; The role of interest in motivation and engagement; The two faces of passion; Creative geniuses, polymaths, child prodigies, and autistic savants; The promotion and development of interest. A robust guide to a fascinating area of study, The Science of Interest synthesizes the field's current knowledge of interest and indicates future directions. Its chapters contribute depth and rigor to this growing area of research and will enhance the work of researchers in education, psychologists, social scientists, and public policymakers
