

ACHIEVING PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT SUCCESS THROUGH A CONSOLIDATED SIMULATION PLATFORM

January 2019

- Automated design analysis
enabling product development success

- Multi-physics simulation
success

Report highlights

Successfully is the overwhelming challenge today by product designers – making it harder to evaluate the impact of different design alternatives.

When the need to virtualize the product development lifecycle is becoming a reality, the multi-physics and design process simulation has become an essential element of product design and delivery. product development simulation platform offers a complete platform for all engineering simulation

Implementing a consolidated simulation platform solution helps users eliminate errors before collaboration. This global comprehensive platform enables storage, access, optimized for multiple disciplines

As the product development lifecycle becomes more complex, the need for a consolidated multi-physics simulation platform is becoming more apparent. Specifically, it will help in the development of products such as automotive, aerospace, industrial machinery, and consumer electronics. The platform will help in the development of products such as automotive, aerospace, industrial machinery, and consumer electronics. The platform will help in the development of products such as automotive, aerospace, industrial machinery, and consumer electronics.
