Security and Privacy John Kleinig, Seumas Miller, Peter Mameli, Douglas Salane, Adina Schwartz, 2011-12-01 This study is principally concerned with the ethical dimensions of identity management technology electronic surveillance the mining of personal data and profiling in the context of transnational crime and global terrorism The ethical challenge at the heart of this study is to establish an acceptable and sustainable equilibrium between two central moral values in contemporary liberal democracies namely security and privacy Both values are essential to individual liberty but they come into conflict in times when civil order is threatened as has been the case from late in the twentieth century with the advent of global terrorism and trans national crime We seek to articulate legally sustainable politically possible and technologically feasible global ethical standards for identity management technology and policies in liberal democracies in the contemporary global security context Although the standards in question are to be understood as global ethical standards potentially to be adopted not only by the United States but also by the European Union India Australasia and other contemporary liberal democratic states we take as our primary focus the tensions that have arisen between the United States and the European Union

Handbook on E-marketing for Tourism Destinations World Tourism Organization, European Travel Commission, 2008 This handbook is the fourth in a series of joint publications by the European Travel Commission ETC and the World Tourism Organization UNWTO in the area of methodological manuals The first three manuals were Evaluating NTO Marketing Activities ISBN 9789284406364 Tourism Market Segmentation ISBN 9789284412075 and Tourism Forecasting Methodologies ISBN 9789284412389 The internet and other new technologies have changed the tourism industry in an unprecedented way and keeping pace has become challenging Online information is now one of the primary influences on consumer decisions in nearly all major markets For example 41 per cent of tourists arriving in Spain in 2007 had booked through the internet and in the United States the number of trips bought online exceeded those purchased offline Such changes are impacting and influencing the way destinations and companies manage and market themselves

Mapping Transatlantic Security Relations

Mark B. Salter,2010-04-15 This book examines how legal political and rights discourses security policies and practices migrate and translate across the North Atlantic The complex relationship between liberty and security has been fundamentally recast and contested in liberal democracies since the start of the global war on terror In addition to recognizing new agencies political pressures and new sensitivities to difference it is important that not to overstate the novelty of the post 9 11 era the war on terror simply made possible the intensification expansion or strengthening of policies already in existence or simply enabled the shutting down of debate Working from a common theoretical frame if different disciplines these chapters present policy oriented analyses of the actual practices of security policing and law in the European Union and Canada They focus on questions of risk and exception state sovereignty and governance liberty and rights law and transparency policing and security In particular the essays are concerned with charting how policies practices and ideas migrate between Canada the EU and its member states By taking field approach to the study of security practices the volume is not constrained by national case study or the solipsistic debates within subfields and bridges legal political and sociological analysis It will be of much interest to students of critical security studies sociology law global governance and IR in general Mark B Salter is Associate Professor at the School of Political Studies University of Ottawa Tourism Management in Southern Africa ,2003
