Field Measurements for Forest Carbon Monitoring Coeli M Hoover, 2008-10-20 In the summer of 2003 a workshop was held in Portsmouth NH to discuss land measurement techniques for the North American Carbon Program Over 40 scientists representing government agencies academia and nonprofit research organizations located in Canada the US and Mexico participated During the course of the workshop a number of topics were discussed with an emphasis on the following The need for an intermediate tier of carbon measurements This level of study would be more extensive than state level inventories of the US Forest Service Forest Inventory and Analysis Program but less detailed than intensive ecosystem studies sites such as those in Long Term Ecological

Research network This tier would ideally provide a basis to link and scale remote sensing measurements and inventory data and supply data required to parameterize existing models see Wofsy and Harriss 2002 Denning et al 2005 The design criteria that such a network of sites should meet The network and sampling design should be standardized but flexible enough to be applied across North America The design also needs to be efficient enough to be implemented without the need for large field crews yet robust enough to provide useful information Finally the spatial scale must permit easy linkage to remotely sensed data The key variables that should be measured at each site and the frequency of measurement Miller's

Deborah Lee,Mahalakshmi Kumaran,2014-06-11 Aboriginal and Visible Minority Librarians Oral Histories from Canada is a collection of chapters written by librarians of color in Canada writing about their experiences working in libraries This book is not only for librarians in Canada and for those who aspire to become librarians it is also for deans directors and faculty of libraries and library schools managers and supervisors in libraries human resources personnel and other decision makers in the field It will also appeal to researchers interested in race relations multiculturalism intercultural communications and management cross cultural communications and management cross cultural studies diversity Aboriginal peoples indigenous populations and ethnic or visible minorities The majority of the chapters written by visible minority librarians come from those born outside of Canada They speak of their love for their new country its generosity and support towards newcomers and immigrants and their reasons for taking up the library profession While few of the librarians speak of open racism they narrate their experiences as those filled with challenges self doubt and courage Several of the Aboriginal librarians who contributed to this book have worked within tribal communities and tribal libraries In spite of working within community environments they have experienced challenges especially related to lack of funding These librarians speak of having to deal with tokenism lack of mentorship and working in professional isolation Some of them narrate their challenges in working with colleagues who do not relate to them Lack of support is common as many organizations do not have proper strategies to deal with discrimination However these chapters end with a positive note of encouragement for future librarians the authors encourage all librarians to be engaged find trusted mentors seek help when needed focus on professional development and find a niche in the organization Speed Breeding Systems For Food Kenny Paul,Nagesh Kancharla,Kshipra Gautam

,Marina Ceran,2024-10-17 Speed breeding systems for sustainable food production offer a promising solution to address food security and environmental sustainability Speed breeding technologies allow accelerating generation of new plant varieties with desired traits in a short period These systems include genetic selection vertical hydroponics and data driven smart sensor applications Quick generation of plant varieties is achieved by manipulating photoperiods of a native plant with extended light periods in a controlled environment to fasten the crop cycle This allows for multiple plant generations to be grown and harvested in a single year rather than the typical one to two generations in traditional field based breeding The application of molecular markers in the analysis of crop genomes enables the identification and characterization of genetic variation within a crop species This in turn helps breeders in identifying and selecting plants with desirable traits such as resistance to pests or diseases or improved yield Marker assisted selection MAS and genomic selection GS are two recent methods that revolutionized plant breeding to improve the efficiency and accuracy of selecting desirable traits MAS allows breeders to identify desirable traits earlier in the breeding process without having to wait for the traits to be phenotypically expressed On the other hand GS allows breeders to predict the performance of a plant before it is even grown and can help speed up the breeding process by allowing breeders to select plants with desirable traits much earlier in the breeding process
