Petersen, 2012-12-06 As Mr Petersen points out in this study since the war there has been a very strong belief in the Netherlands that emigration is necessary Even those who never before occupied themselves with these matters now speak of the large natural increase the overpopulation and the lack of opportunities in the Netherlands Thousands are considering the possibility of leaving their home land and creating a new existence for themselves overseas It is a mistake to suppose however that these ideas stem from the special demographic and economic conditions that arose in the Netherlands since the war the opposite is the case From this point of view there has never been less reason for emigrating during the past decades than in these postwar years As far as the demographic situation is concerned by 1930 the natural increase had decreased markedly as compared with the preceding decades so that the number of young persons entering the labor market after the war has been relatively small On the other hand there have been more openings in industry and in other sectors of the economy than ever before so that unemployment pretty much disappeared Only in 1951 did it again become at all significant The Immigrant's Guide to Living in Australia: 3rd Edition Hymie Zawatzky, 2016-04-22 Australia is a country superbly organised to assist new immigrants and overseas business people wanting to relocate their business and staff to Australia Before taking that huge step you need to know what to look for and where to find it This 2016 Third Edition of The Immigrant s Guide to Living in Australia has been revised improved and expanded to provide you with the complete
