

The image is a vertical composite of two photographs showing the underside of a vehicle. The top photograph is a close-up of the engine compartment, showing various hoses, metal components, and a black plastic cover. The bottom photograph shows the rear of the vehicle, including the rear wheel, suspension components, and the rear axle. A semi-transparent black rectangular box is overlaid in the center of the image, containing white text.

Once off, you should see the ATF filter right at the center of the beam.
