Congress. Senate, Behind Closed Doors Joanne Stanton,Christine O'Donnell,2017-09-26 Behind Closed Doors tells the story of two mothers who began investigating serious health issues in their own son and daughter and ended up writing an expose about the declining health of an entire generation of American children In their relentless attempts to improve the health of their own children they uncovered harmful trends in our food pharmaceuticals and environment all stemming from weak laws and conflicts of interest What they discovered shocked and ultimately empowered them to get actively involved in questioning and reforming these harmful out of balance practices and to inspire other moms to do the same Behind Closed Doors not only offers scientifically verified evidence of how declining industry practices are harming our kids but showcases solutions like environmental medicine and other integrative health practices shares personal success stories and provides tools and solutions parents can immediately implement equipping and inspiring us all to stand together for change The Report: Peru 2015 Oxford Business Group,2015-01-12 Expanding at an average rate of 6.4% per annum since the mid 2000s Peru's economic growth has been remarkable but also heavily dependent on one sector Driven by a sharp rise in commodity prices the mining industry spurred Peru's economy to the fastest sustained growth rate in Latin America during much of the past decade The end of the commodities supercycle however saw economic growth slow down substantially over the course of 2014 with the central bank revising growth projections to 3.1% in mid October In a bid to stimulate growth the government has intensified diversification efforts and introduced a series of measures aimed at promoting investment The current economic slowdown attributable in part to delays in some major mining developments is generally seen as a temporary one and growth is expected to pick up again in 2015 While mining will remain the backbone of the Peruvian economy in particular from 2016 and beyond as several large scale copper projects come on line other sectors including industry and tourism should begin to play increasingly important roles School-based food and nutrition education Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2020-12-10 School based food and nutrition education SFNE helps schoolchildren and the school community to achieve lasting improvements in their food practices and outlooks build the capacity to change and to adapt to external change and pass on their learning to others SFNE has also an important role in complementing efforts that are being made globally to improve food environments and in empowering children and adolescents to become active participants in shaping the food system to be better able to deliver healthy and sustainable diets Despite increasing interest for SFNE the evidence that supports it and its potential much of traditional SFNE particularly in LMICs is largely underfunded not delivering results and disconnected from other key interventions that aim to support the food nutrition environment and education nexus SFNE is under resourced with capacity development opportunities lacking throughout the school system This White Paper is the first document of its kind and it is based on the evidence professional expertise and field experience lessons learned and documented challenges of SFNE work in a variety of contexts It presents the case for raising the profile and transforming the vision and learning model of SFNE This document is directed firstly to a technical audience working in governmental organizations that deal with schoolchildren and adolescents and is also of interest to researchers technical advisors decision makers donors and investors civil society and UN organizations
