Modern Architecture By William Curtis:

Modern Architecture Since 1900 William J. R. Curtis, 1987 A penetrating analysis of the modern architectural tradition and its origins Since its first publication in 1982 Modern Architecture Since 1900 has become established as a contemporary classic Worldwide in scope it combines a clear historical outline with masterly analysis and interpretation Technical economic social and intellectual developments are brought together in a comprehensive narrative which provides a setting for the detailed examination of buildings Throughout the book the author's focus is on the individual architect and on the qualities that give outstanding buildings their lasting value For the third edition the text has been radically revised and expanded incorporating much new material and a fresh appreciation of regional identity and variety Seven chapters are entirely new including expanded coverage of recent world architecture Described by James Ackerman of Harvard University as immeasurably the finest work covering this field in existence this book presents a penetrating analysis of the modern tradition and its origins tracing the creative interaction between old and new that has generated such an astonishing richness of architectural forms across the world and throughout the century

Le Corbusier William J.R. Curtis, 1994-01-01 A study of Le Corbusier and his influence on twentieth century architecture Utopias and Architecture Nathaniel Coleman, 2007-05-07 Utopian thought though commonly characterized as projecting a future without a past depends on golden models for re invention of what is Through a detailed and innovative re assessment of the work of three architects who sought to represent a utopian content in their work and a consideration of the thoughts of a range of leading writers Coleman offers the reader a unique perspective of idealism in architectural design With unparalleled depth and focus of vision on the work of Le Corbusier Louis I Kahn and Aldo van Eyck this book persuasively challenges predominant assumptions in current architectural discourse forging a new approach to the invention of welcoming built environments and transcending the limitations of both the postmodern and hyper modern stance and orthodox modernist architecture

Beyond Modernist Masters Felipe Hernández, 2009-11-20 Latin America has been an important place for architecture for many decades Masters like Barragán Dieste Lina Bo Bardi and Niemeyer pointed the way for architectural design all over the world and they continue to do so today Their approach to colors materials and walls had a deep and lasting influence on architectural modernism Since then however and especially in the last fifteen years architecture on the continent has continued to evolve and a lively and extremely creative architecture scene has developed The work of Latin American architects and city planners is often guided by social issues for example the approach to informal settlements on the outskirts of big cities the scarcity of housing and public space the availability of affordable transportation and the important role of cultural infrastructure such as schools libraries and sports facilities as a catalyst for neighborhoods Within this context the book considers numerous projects that have prompted discussion and provided fresh impetus all across Latin America Outstanding projects like the Santo Domingo Library in Medellín Colombia by Giancarlo Mazzanti Alberto Kalach's Liceo

Franco Mexicano in Mexico and the works of Alejandro Aravena in Chile show that recent Latin American architecture is more than capable of holding its own beside the works of the founders Felipe Hernandez is an architect and professor of Architectural Design History and Theory at The University of Liverpool He attended an MA in Architecture and Critical Theory graduating with distinction in 1998 and received his PhD from the University of Nottingham in 2003 He has taught at the Bartlett School of Architecture UCL The Universities of Nottingham Sheffield East London and Nottingham Trent in the United Kingdom as well as at Brown University and Roger Williams University in USA Felipe has published numerous essays and articles examining the situation of contemporary Latin American cities and revealing the multiplicity of architectural practices that operate simultaneously in the constant re shaping of the continent's cities

Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore

The Historiography of Modern Architecture Panayotis Tournikiotis, 2001-02-27 The history of modern architecture as constructed by historians and key texts Writing according to Panayotis Tournikiotis has always exerted a powerful influence on architecture Indeed the study of modern architecture cannot be separated from a fascination with the texts that have tried to explain the idea of a new architecture in a new society During the last forty years the question of the relationship of architecture to its history of buildings to books has been one of the most important themes in debates about the course of modern architecture Tournikiotis argues that the history of modern architecture tends to be written from the present projecting back onto the past our current concerns so that the beginning of the story really functions as a representation of its end In this book the buildings are the quotations while the texts are the structure Tournikiotis focuses on a group of books by major historians of the twentieth century Nikolaus Pevsner Emil Kaufmann Sigfried Giedion Bruno Zevi Leonardo Benevolo Henry Russell Hitchcock Reyner Banham Peter Collins and Manfredo Tafuri In examining these writers thoughts he draws on concepts from critical theory relating architecture to broader historical models

The Architecture of Use Stephen Grabow, Kent Spreckelmeyer, 2014-10-03 By analyzing ten examples of buildings that embody the human experience at an extraordinary level this book clarifies the central importance of the role of function in architecture as a generative force in determining built form Using familiar twentieth century buildings as case studies the authors present these from a new perspective based on their functional design concepts Here Grabow and Spreckelmeyer expand the definition of human use to that of an art form by re evaluating these buildings from an aesthetic and ecological view of function Each building is described from the point of view of a major functional concept or idea of human use which then spreads out and influences the spatial organization built form and structure In doing so each building is presented as an exemplar that reaches beyond the pragmatic concerns of a narrow program and demonstrates how functional concepts can inspire great design evoke archetypal human experience and help us to understand how architecture embodies the deeper purposes and meanings of everyday life Site Matters Carol Burns,Andrea Kahn,2005 This volume through theoretical essays and empirically grounded pieces on Le Corbusier s designs contemporary suburbs and the planning agendas of the World Trade Center site provides theory on the appreciation of site and context in architecture Modern Architecture in Latin America Luis E. Carranza,Fernando Luiz Lara,2015-01-05 Modern Architecture in Latin America Art Technology and Utopia is an introductory text on the issues polemics and works that represent the complex processes of political economic and cultural modernization in the twentieth century The number and types of projects varied greatly from country to country but as a whole the region produced a significant body of architecture that has never before been presented in a single volume in any language Modern Architecture in Latin America is the first comprehensive history of this important production Designed as a survey and focused on key examples paradigms arranged chronologically from 1903 to 2003 this volume covers a myriad of countries historical social and political conditions and projects developments that range from small houses to urban plans to architectural movements The book is structured so that it can be read in a variety of ways as a historically developed narrative of modern architecture in Latin America as a country specific chronology or as a treatment of traditions centered on issues of art technology or utopia This structure allows readers to see the development of multiple and parallel branches historical strands of architecture and at times their interconnections across countries The authors provide a critical evaluation of the movements presented in relationship to their overall goals and architectural transformations The Contested Territory of Architectural Theory Elie G. Haddad,2022-10-21 This book brings together a diverse group of theoreticians to explore architectural theory as a discipline assessing its condition and relevance to contemporary practice Offering critical assessment in the face of major social and environmental issues of today 17 original contributions address the relevance of architectural theory in the contemporary world from various perspectives including but not limited to politics gender representation race environmental crisis and history The chapters are grouped into two distinct sections the first section explores various historical perspectives on architectural theory mapping theory s historiographical turn and its emergence and decline from the 1960s to the present the second offers alternative visions and new directions for architectural theory incorporating feminist and human rights perspectives and addressing contemporary issues such as

Artificial Intelligence and the Age of Acceleration This edited collection features contributions from renowned scholars as well as emergent voices with a Foreword by David Leatherbarrow This book will be of great interest to graduate and upper level students of architecture as well as academics and practicing architects

Enjoying the Beat of Appearance: An Psychological Symphony within Modern Architecture By William Curtis

In some sort of eaten by displays and the ceaseless chatter of instantaneous interaction, the melodic elegance and emotional symphony produced by the written term frequently diminish into the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant sound and interruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, set within the pages of Modern Architecture By William Curtis a charming fictional treasure brimming with organic emotions, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful composer of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on a mental journey, well unraveling the hidden melodies and profound impact resonating within each carefully constructed phrase. Within the depths of the touching analysis, we can discover the book is central harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing style, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
