"MY FAVOURITE PERSONALITY"

Every person in this world has a hero. People have heroes because they really admire that person and they really look up to that person. They want to do what they have done and they have achieved in their life. Like every person, I also have a hero. My hero had a great personality and a great heart. His name is Quaid-e-Azam Mohammad Ali Jinnah. I choose him as my hero because I really admire him. I admire his style, his personality and what he did for the Muslims of our country. He gave Muslims their freedom from the British Empire that was ruling at that time. Quaid-e-Azam Mohammad Ali Jinnah was born on Dec. 25th, 1876, to a prominent mercantile family in Karachi. Jinnah was the second child, he had three brothers and three sisters, including his younger sister Fatima Jinnah. Jinnah lived for a time in Bombay with an aunt and may have attended the Gokal Das Tej Primary School there, or possibly a madrasa, later on moving to the Cathedral and John Connon School. In Karachi, he attended the Sindh-Madrasa-ul-Islam and the Christian Missionary Society High School. He gained his matriculation from Bombay University at the high school. In 1893 he went to London. Soon after his arrival in London, Jinnah gave up the apprenticeship in order to study law. He joined Lincoln's Inn there.

The aspiring barrister joined Lincoln's Inn, later stating that the reason he chose Lincoln's over the other Inns of Court was that over the main entrance to Lincoln's Inn were the names of the world's great lawgivers, including Muhammad. He became an admirer of the Parsi Indian political leaders Dadabhai Naoroji. In 1895, at age 19, he became the youngest Indian to be called to the bar in England. Although he returned to Karachi, he remained there only a short time before moving to Bombay. Aged twenty, Jinnah began his practice in Bombay, the only Muslim barrister in the city. English had become his principal language and would remain so throughout his life. His first three years in the law, from 1897 to 1900, brought him few briefs. One of Jinnah's fellow barristers from the Bombay High Court remembered that: "Jinnah's faith in himself was incredible". Jinnah began political life by attending the Congress's twentieth annual meeting, in Bombay in December 1904. He was a member of the moderate group in the Congress, favouring Hindu-Muslim unity in achieving self-government, and following such leaders as Mehta, Naoroji, and Gopal Krishna Gokhale. Due to the conspiracies of Congress members, he joined the Muslim League in 1906. He had a staunch belief in Muslims. He gave Muslims a new hope, a hope of living independently again. He said that: "Hindus and Muslims are two separate nations having different beliefs and different ideologies". He always considered Muslims a separate and strong nation. He compelled Muslims to fight for their rights. Although Jinnah initially opposed separate electorates for Muslims, he used this means to gain his first

Mark E. Smith and The Fall: Art, Music and Politics Mr Benjamin Halligan, Mr Michael Goddard, 2013-01-28 This volume offers a comprehensive range of approaches to the work of Mark E Smith and his band The Fall in relation to music art and politics Mark E Smith remains one of the most divisive and idiosyncratic figures in popular music after a recording career with The Fall that spans thirty years Although The Fall were originally associated with the contemporaneous punk explosion from the beginning they pursued a highly original vision of what was possible in the sphere of popular music While other punk bands burned out after a few years only to then reform decades later as their own cover bands The Fall continue to evolve while retaining a remarkable consistency even with the frequent line up changes that soon left Mark E Smith as the only permanent member of the group The key aspect of the group that this volume explores is the invariably creative unfailingly critical and often antagonistic relations that characterize both the internal dynamics of the group and the group's position in the pop cultural surroundings The Fall's ambiguous position in the unfolding histories of British popular music and therefore in the new heritage industries of popular culture in the UK from post punk to anti Thatcher politics to the Factory fiction of Manchester and on into Mark E Smith's current role as ageing enfant terrible of rock illustrates the uneasy relationship between the band their critical commentators and the historians of popular music This volume engages directly with this critical ambiguity With a diverse range of approaches to The Fall this volume opens up new possibilities for writing about contemporary music beyond traditional approaches grounded in the sociology of music Cultural Studies and music journalism an aim which is reflected in the variety of provocative critical approaches and writing styles that make up the volume
