Nations Report Card 2003:

Closing the achievement gap the impact of standards-based education reform on student performance : draft report for commissioners' review. ,2004 The Nation's Report Card ,2004 Assessing the Nation's Report Card Chester E. Finn,2022-08-23 Assessing the Nation's Report Card examines the history of the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP and outlines plans for improving and modernizing the organization Educational policy analyst Chester E Finn Jr imparts a rare inside analysis of the evolution of the NAEP program at key moments in its history and provides a firsthand perspective of crucial decisions and core goals that have helped shape it The result is a revealing survey of the US's most influential source of data on K 12 achievement Assessing the Nation's Report Card offers readers an in depth understanding and appreciation of NAEP as well as an examination of its shortcomings its controversies and its current issues The book explores why NAEP is considered the gold standard of educational assessments yet is much lesser known than other types of standardized testing Finn underscores the promise of applying the results in addressing achievement gaps boosting federal accountability and driving education reform and policy He also discloses how the data are collected and what the results can and cannot tell us For more than 50 years this ambitious federal testing program has informed the decisions of policy makers and educational leaders as they advocate for educational improvements in the US Acknowledging the nation's evolving need for actionable information about students and schools Finn provides an assured and rare overview of the existing program and proposes possibilities for the future The Condition of Education ,2005 Includes a section called Program and plans which describes the Center's activities for the current fiscal year and the projected activities for the succeeding fiscal year The Ecology of Childhood Barbara Bennett Woodhouse,2020-01-14 2021 Outstanding Academic Title Choice Magazine How globalization is undermining sustainable social environments for children This book uses the ecological model of child development together with ethnographic and comparative studies of two small villages in Italy and the United States as its framework for examining the well being of children in the aftermath of the Great Recession Global forces far from being distant and abstract are revealed as wreaking havoc in children's environments even in economically advanced countries Falling birth rates deteriorating labor conditions fraying safety nets rising rates of child poverty and a surge in racism and populism in Europe and the United States are explored in the petri dish of the village Globalism's discontents unrestrained capitalism and technological change rising inequality mass migration and the juggernaut of climate change are rapidly destabilizing and degrading the social and physical environments necessary to our collective survival and well being This crisis demands a radical restructuring of our macrosystemic value systems Woodhouse proposes an ecogenerist theory that asks whether our policies and politics foster environments in which children and families can flourish It proposes as a benchmark the family supportive human rights principles of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child The book closes by highlighting ways in which individuals can engage at the local and regional levels in creating percent correct on clusters of items to understand student knowledge on specific mathematics topics Several themes emerge from the volume One is that while the rate of improvement in mathematics learning in grades 4 and 8 has slowed in recent years it has slowed more on some topics than others Another is that relatively minor changes in wording can have significant effects on student performance and thus it is difficult to be specific about what students can do without knowing exactly what questions they were asked A third theme is that changes in performance over time can sometimes but not always be understood in terms of what students are taught For example there were substantial gains on several grade 4 items requiring understanding of fractions and that is probably because the amount of instruction on fractions in grades 3 and 4 has been increasing In contrast while relatively few twelfth grade students have ever been good at factoring trinomials performance on this skill seems to be decreasing This suggests that while more students are completing advanced mathematics courses in high school these courses are not helping in the area of factoring trinomials Finally there are limitations to using NAEP as a measure of student performance on the Common Core State Standards To the extent that NAEP can be used however the NAEP data show a substantial gap between expectations and performance
