Drones Serge A. Wich, Lian Pin Koh, 2018-05-31 Increasing numbers of ecologists and conservation biologists have begun to explore the use of drone technology to obtain accurate and up to date data on the distribution and density of species as well as the threats to their habitats in their ongoing attempts to conserve and monitor biodiversity Conservation drones are low cost autonomous and operator friendly unmanned aerial vehicles that can be used for surveying mapping and monitoring both habitat and biodiversity They are fast becoming a valuable complement to ground based surveys and satellite imagery for a wide range of ecological and conservation applications The authors pioneered the use of conservation drones for the purpose of monitoring orangutan populations in Southeast Asia They subsequently founded ConservationDrones.org to share their knowledge of building and using drones with colleagues in the wider environmental community This website has proved highly popular and this book aims to further build capacity to use drones and inspire others to adapt emerging technologies for practical conservation Narratives of Qualitative Research Josh Tenenbergs, 2024-05-21 Narratives of Qualitative

Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative Each narrative is told from the author s perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences Told chronologically and in a first person voice the narratives position the reader alongside the narrator so as to vicariously experience how research happens in its situated particulars Rather than a set of idealizations and universalized pronouncements the author reveals what really goes on when one is in the thick of complex and challenging research studies the points of trouble along with the successes This will be relevant to researchers who have already undertaken one or more empirical research studies though not necessarily using qualitative approaches and now find themselves facing something new a new analytic method a new theoretical lens a new form of data collection a new domain of research questions a new rhetorical approach This requires letting go of the secure handholds of prescribed methods and responding to the contingencies that arise in the midst of the research The reader is invited to follow along as the author makes visible his praxis of qualitative research Unlike more conventional texts in this unique alternative the reader can follow the author's journey through his research studies as a way to reorient their conception of qualitative research and their own praxis of it This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers and students taking qualitative research courses across the social sciences education and behavioural sciences
