Decolonizing the Stage Christopher B. Balme, 1999 A study of post colonial drama and theatre It examines how dramatists from various societies have attempted to fuse the performance idioms of their traditions with the Western dramatic form demonstrating how the dynamics of syncretic theatrical texts function in performance

So, why Did God Let this Happen? Garrison R. Davis, 2010-02 This book is not a religious theological denominational traditional seminarian analysis or opinion It is rather an awakening to the timeless scripture based system that God provided for us to learn and practice for optimum prosperous results for anyone who will believe it and diligently put it to use in their lives It is a comprehensive revolutionary and ultimately clarifying study of God's word and a revealing look at what God in his supreme love for mankind really meant for us to experience in this earth and in the universe If you like so many are wondering what is really going on in this world and the reasons why then pick up this book read it digest it and you will never be the same because it explains the shocking reality of what was really suppose to be and what is really happening right now and how the understanding of all this will give you a whole new prospective on life God man good and evil

Syncretic Arenas Isidore Diala, 2014-11-15 This collection in part examines the legacy of the consummate Nigerian stage artist and scholar Esiaba Irobi 1960-2010 Poems tributes and studies celebrate Irobi's significance as actor playwright director poet and theatre theorist Irobi's life temper times and career are inextricably linked to the history development concerns and uses of drama and theatre in Africa The contributions highlight the evolution of autochthonous theatrical practices the interaction between Western and indigenous African performance traditions colonial postcolonial government policies and the mutations of drama and theatre and critically comment on the tensions inherent in postcolonial conceptions of history identity nationhood and articulations of alternative aesthetics pedagogies and epistemologies for postcolonial African theatre staging African plays in the West and the constituencies of the contemporary African playwright and director The strength of these studies derives primarily from nuanced examinations of the concerns and careers of particular African playwrights the history offerings and fortunes of particular theatrical arenas and close explorations of specific performances and texts The foregrounding of correspondences in the dramaturgies and intellectual ferment of the continent critically accentuates equally privileged regional historical and other crucial specificities. Situated in time and place while underscoring the political and intellectual intersections of a shared history of colonialism, the contributions to Syncretic Arenas individually and collectively reveal the transformations and growing strengths of postcolonialism as an analytical strategy. Isidore Diala is Professor of African literature in the Department of English and Literary Studies at Abia State University Uturu and author of Esiaba Irobi's Drama and the Postcolony. Theory and Practice of Postcolonial Performance 2013. Translation of Cultures Petra Wittke-Rüdiger, Konrad Gross, 2009. The contributors to this collection approach the subject of the translation of cultures from various angles. Translation refers to the rendering of texts from one language into another and the shift between languages under precolonial retelling, transcreation, colonial domestication and postcolonial multilingual trafficking conditions. Offers and Offer Refusals Eric A. Anchimbe, 2018-11-15. This study offers a pragmatic dimension to World Englishes research. It is particularly timely because pragmatics has generally been understudied in past research on World Englishes, especially postcolonial Englishes. Apart from drawing attention to the paucity of research, the book also contributes to theory formation on the emerging theoretical framework postcolonial pragmatics, which is then applied to data from two World postcolonial Englishes: Ghanaian and Cameroon Englishes. The copious examples used clearly illustrate how postcolonial societies realise various pragmatic phenomena in this case offers and offer refusals and how these could be fruitfully explained using an analytical framework designed on the complex internal set-ups of these societies. For research on social interaction in these societies to be representative, it has to take into account the complex history of their evolution, contact with other systems during colonialism and the heritages thereof. This book does just that. Ecclesiastes, 2011.

European-language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa Albert S. Gérard, 1986-01-01. The first major comparative study of African writing in western languages. European language Writing in Sub-Saharan Africa edited by Albert S. Gérard falls into four wide-ranging sections: an overview of early contacts and colonial developments; Under Western Eyes; chapters on Black Consciousness manifest in the debates over Panafrikanism and Negritude; a group of essays on mental decolonization expressed in Black Power texts at the time of independence struggles; and finally Comparative Vistas sketching directions that future comparative study might explore. An introductory essay stresses the millennia of writing in Africa side by side with a richly eloquent and artistic set of vernacular oral traditions. Written and oral traditions have become interwoven in adaptations of imported forms and linguistic innovations that challenge traditional high literary norms. Gérard uses the mathematical concept of fuzzy sets to explain why the focus on Black Africa has led him to set aside for future analysis the literatures produced in North Africa which fall under the influence of Muslim civilization as well as the diasporic literatures of the New World. Over sixty scholars from twenty-two countries contribute specialized studies of creative writing by leading authors in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries such as Achebe, Mphahlele, Ngugi, Senghor, Soyinka and Tutuola. Critical analyses are organized primarily around regions reflecting different colonial languages imposed through schools and other social institutions Some authors trace the adaptation of western genres others identify syncretism with folktales or myths The volumes are attentive to the heterogeneity of national literatures addressed to polyethnic and multilingual populations and they note the instrumental politics of language in newly independent states A closing chapter Tasks Ahead identifies areas for future scholars to explore
