

A Letter for My Future Husband

4 pages | 841 words

After reading "Why I Want a Wife", I disagree with Syfers' opinion when she created an example of a perfect wife who has the responsibilities to meet her husband's needs. I am looking for a husband, but it seems too early and so far away for a high-school girl who wants to get into a holy matrimony. However, the real question is if a wife has all the responsibilities to do everything, what would a husband do? If I am a wife, I will not expect my husband to be handsome or rich. Instead, I do expect my husband to have a good personality so that we can have a healthy relationship. I want a husband who will respect me, share responsibilities with me, and be honest with me. I want a husband who will respect me the way I respect him. However, I have a right to keep my own private space, and I do not want my husband force me into talking about things that I do not want to say. On the other hand, I am glad to listen to my husband's complaints, because it is a way to show respect and it will also help me learn more about him. I want a husband who will never scold at me in front of other people even though I may be difficult. For instance, when my friend and I are talking in the living room, my husband should not directly walk in and order me to prepare a meal for his friends.

Even if I refuse, my husband should not yell at me in front of my friend. Instead, he should be kind and respectful. I want a husband who can comfort me when I am not in a good mood, and listen carefully when I am talking. While he is listening, it should not be in one ear and out the other because he should be attentive. Just like Syfers' point, "...I want a wife who will listen to me when I feel the need to explain a difficult point..." I want a husband who will share the family's responsibilities with me. Women nowadays are becoming economically independent, so taking care of the children is not only a wife's responsibility. "I want a wife to keep track of the children's doctor and dentist appointments...I want a wife to make sure my children eat properly and are kept clean. I want a wife who will wash the children's clothes and keep them mended. I want a wife who is a good nurturant attendant to my children and who arranges for their schooling..." I disagree with Syfers' opinion that a wife should be the one to take care of the children, because a husband could also take care of the children when his wife is at work. I do not want my husband to stand around and do nothing when I am cooking.

Since I am not a good cook, I want a husband who can "Plan the menus, prepare the meals" when I am not in the mood for it. I want...
