

New York: The City of My Dreams

5 pages | 1230 words

Everyone has a place that helps bring clarity to their life, and for me that place is New York City. Someone may ask, what is so great about New York City? What draws all these people from around the world to this one spot? I believe there is something special, or dare I say magical, about this city. For me, New York City has impacted how I think about diversity, where things originate, and how important it is to feel like you belong. On my first trip to NYC, I flew into LaGuardia airport. From the sky I was able to see how this city physically stood apart. Upon leaving for my trip to NYC, I was unsure of what to expect because it had always been a dream of mine to visit this city that sits on an island. It's crazy to think that according to Wikipedia this place is only "13.4 miles in length, and 2.3 miles in width". Most people don't realize that most of the famous places they have seen on TV sit on this island called Manhattan. It's also important to remember that just as the island is small, it is also very diverse. I had heard and read stories about the people of New York and the East Coast. The stories were of how rude they are, how they fight non-New Yorkers, and so on and so forth. Let me tell you, that is not the experience that I had. I believe you must take the people of NYC for who they are. They are a fast-paced society, and they don't want you to get in their way. If you treat them with respect, then they will treat you with the same respect just as you would hope. According to Wikipedia's "Manhattan" article, there are a lot of people that call New York City home, well "8,622,698 to be exact per the latest poll from 2017". The number increases if you add the total number of tourists that visit throughout the year. "At the end of 2017, Wikipedia states that a total of 62.8 million tourists visited NYC, with 13.1 million being international tourists". This place has a special energy and a unique heartbeat that draw people here. The island of Manhattan is made up of "56 different neighborhoods" that are all eccentric. From Chinatown, Little Italy, SoHo, Times Square, Hell's Kitchen, and the Financial District, every one of these neighborhoods offers something unique. I had my first New York style pizza slice at John's Pizza of Times Square, and it was delicious. In Chinatown, I had dumplings, boba drinks, and a cone crepe filled with nutella, strawberries, and bananas. On the Upper West Side, there is a little place called Jacob's Pickles that has become the highlight of each trip and holds a special place in my heart. They serve a dish that consists of two fluffy pancakes, three chicken strips, syrup, and they top it off with bacon crumbles. This dish has become my all-time favorite meal to eat while in NYC, because it always brings me back to my first time...

The Glorious American Essay Phillip Lopate, 2021-10-19 A monumental canon defining anthology of three centuries of American essays from Cotton Mather and Benjamin Franklin to David Foster Wallace and Zadie Smith selected by acclaimed essayist Phillip Lopate Not only an education but a joy This is a book for the ages Rivka Galchen author of Atmospheric Disturbances The essay form is an especially democratic one and many of the essays Phillip Lopate has gathered here address themselves sometimes critically to American values We see the Puritans the Founding Fathers and Mothers and the stars of the American Renaissance struggle to establish a national culture A grand tradition of nature writing runs from Audubon Thoreau and John Muir to Rachel Carson and Annie Dillard Marginalized groups use the essay to assert or to complicate notions of identity Lopate has cast his net wide embracing critical personal political philosophical literary polemical autobiographical and humorous essays Americans by birth as well as immigrants appear here famous essayists alongside writers more celebrated for fiction or poetry The result is a dazzling overview of the riches of the American essay

Rethinking Smart Urbanism Prince K. Guma, 2021-01-03 Rethinking Smart Urbanism is an empirical exploration of the multiple ways in which cities and infrastructures are constructed and reconstructed through ICT innovation and appropriation Drawing on the case of Kenya's capital Nairobi the study explains existing infrastructure constellations through countervailing processes and rationalities in the context of splintered urbanism In doing so the study examines the relationship between urban plans and digital infrastructure development place based contexts that shape digital infrastructures and the extent to which these infrastructures facilitate utility companies' ambitions of extending centralized networks to new territories It draws on the theoretical and empirical base of urban and infrastructure studies particularly in the fields of smart urbanism postcolonial urbanism and Science and Technology Studies Methodologically the study adopts a qualitative research design and presents in depth case studies that combine ethnographic methods with a thorough investigation of written sources Ultimately it is hoped to enhance our understanding of urban and digital possibilities and add new insights to debates on technology and urbanity in Africa and beyond A History of Babylonia and Assyria Robert

My Cocaine Museum Michael Taussig, 2009-12-19 In this book a make believe cocaine museum becomes a vantage point from which to assess the lives of Afro Colombian gold miners drawn into the dangerous world of cocaine production in the rain forest of Colombia's Pacific Coast Although modeled on the famous Gold Museum in Colombia's central bank the Banco de la República Taussig's museum is also a parody aimed at the museum's failure to acknowledge the African slaves who mined the country's wealth for almost four hundred years Combining natural history with political history in a filmic montage style Taussig deploys the show and tell modality of a museum to engage with the inner life of heat rain stone and swamp no less than with the life of gold and cocaine This effort to find a poetry of words becoming things is brought to a head by the explosive qualities of those sublime fetishes of evil beauty gold and cocaine At its core Taussig's museum is about the lure of forbidden things charged substances that transgress moral codes the distinctions we use to make sense of the world and above all the conventional way we write stories

Hebrew Gothic Karen Grumberg, 2019-09-01 Makes a persuasive argument that gothic ideas play a vital role in how Hebrew writers have confronted history culture and politics Robert Alter author of Hebrew and Modernity Sinister tales written since the early twentieth century by the foremost Hebrew authors including S Y Agnon Leah Goldberg and Amos Oz reveal a darkness at the foundation of Hebrew culture The ghosts of a murdered Talmud scholar and his kidnapped bride rise from their graves for a nocturnal dance of death a girl hidden by a count in a secret chamber of an Eastern European castle emerges to find that unbeknownst to her World War II ended years earlier a man recounts the act of incest that would shape a trajectory of personal and national history Reading these works together with central British and American gothic texts Karen Grumberg illustrates that modern Hebrew literature has regularly appropriated key gothic ideas to help conceptualize the Jewish relationship to the past and more broadly to time She explores why these authors were drawn to the gothic originally a European mode associated with antisemitism and how they use it to challenge assumptions about power and powerlessness vulnerability and violence and to shape modern Hebrew culture Grumberg provides an original perspective on Hebrew literary engagement with history and sheds new light on the tensions that continue to characterize contemporary Israeli cultural and political rhetoric

Literature and the Glocal City Ana María Fraile-Marcos, 2014-07-17 The modern city is a space that can simultaneously represent the principles of its homeland alongside its own unique blend of the cultures that intermingle within its city limits This book makes an intervention in Canadian literary criticism by foregrounding both globalism which is increasingly perceived as the state of the art literary paradigm and the city These are two significant axes of contemporary culture and identity that were previously disregarded by a critical tradition built around the importance of space and place in Canadian writing Yet as relevant as the turn to the city and to globalism may be this collection's most notable contribution lies in linking the notion of glocality that is the intermeshing of local and global forces to representations of subjectivity in the material and figurative space of the Canadian city Dealing with oppositional discourses as multiculturalism postcolonialism feminism diaspora and environmentalism this book is an essential reference for any scholar with an interest in these areas

Transcultural Humanities in South Asia Waseem Anwar, Nosheen Yousaf, 2022-03-15 This volume looks at the implications
