Sound, Image, and National Imaginary in the Construction of Latin/o American Identities Héctor Fernández L'Hoeste, Pablo Vila, 2017-12-26 Sound Image and National Imaginary in the Construction of Latin o American Identities addresses a gap in the many narratives discussing the cultural histories of Latin American nations particularly in terms of the birth configuration and perpetuation of national identities It argues that these processes were not as gradual or constrained as traditionally conceived The actual circumstances dictating the adoption of particular technologies for the representation of national ideas shifted and varied according to many factors including local circumstances political singularities economic disparities and highly individualized cultural transitions This book proposes a model of chronology that is valid not only for nations that underwent strong processes of nationalism during the early or mid twentieth century but also for those that experienced highly idiosyncratic cultural economic and political development into the early twenty first century Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress. Robert Pinsky and Derek Walcott anchor this groundbreaking soulful poetry collection Imagine a night of a hundred poets reading their work to an audience of intensely engaged responsive and lively people say three thousand of them They are a loud bunch when it is time to make noise but they are silent as congregants at prayer when the poets language entrances them Imagine the reading taking place under a tent pitched on a grassy lawn that overlooks the Caribbean Sea Imagine that this is not the north coast of Jamaica with its cliché of white sands and coconut trees a place glutted with cruise ship passengers and bewildered tourists imagine instead a rugged coastline a landscape full of the kind of character we find in the weather beaten faces of wise old folk imagine fishermen farmers ordinary workers schoolchildren and traveling people moving around as if they have been in this place forever and as if they all belong Imagine one hundred poets some whose names you know and some you have never heard of stepping onto the stage opening their mouths and hearts and singing out poems of great variety complexity beauty and passion Imagine laughter and tears imagine sighs of familiarity and moans of pain imagine tragedies enacted in the words that move through the shelter of the tent imagine a poem like a fist or a sharply painful open palm or the tender caress of fingers or the firm grasp of a handshake Imagine stories dropping like seeds into the ground and growing rapidly and wildly all around you This is the setting and mood of the greatest little festival in the greatest little village in the greatest little country in the world and this anthology is what the festival would look like were all 100 poets who have read at Calabash over the years to come together on a late May weekend to read So Much Things to Say is a unique gathering of a group of poets who represent at least one reckoning of the place of contemporary poetry in 2010 Contributors include Robert Pinsky Derek Walcott Elizabeth Alexander Amiri Baraka Martin Espada Terrance Hayes Valzyna Mort Sonia Sanchez Linton Kwesi Johnson Patricia Smith Natasha Trethewey Staceyann Chin and 88 others Grandma, Someday I'll Travel the World Elfie Rainals,2008-03-31 In the first few years of her life four year old Sandra Schmidt endured TB the death of her mother and the abandonment of her father It is 1938 Hitler runs Sandras homeland and soon much of the homelands of Germanys neighbors She is raised in the safety of her grandparents home until the Americans and

British start bombing Germany and her village Sandra is struck by a piece of shrapnel and almost dies from infection Her lifelong friend and Sandra wonder what the Jewish Solution is all about when her beloved grandfather is sent to a concentration camp for hiding Jews in the market he manages He escapes with the help of a former employee who now is a warden there After Sandras grandfather dies she lets an American GI trundle her off to New York but doesnt like it there and runs off to California But being beautiful doesnt guarantee you a job there She struggles for a while and after a few mishaps she lands a job as a Tour Manager to India The tour companys management is impressed with her and offers her a permanent position She always told her grandmother that someday I will travel the world Oddly enough this will be her new profession and she travels with American tourists for many years The dream she had of traveling with the rich and famous had finally come true
