The Theory and Practice of Grading Writing Frances Zak, Christopher C. Weaver, 1998-02-05 CHOICE 1998 Outstanding Academic Books Grading is one of the thorniest issues writing teachers must deal with yet surprisingly little has been written on this topic As writing teachers move increasingly toward practices that focus on writing as a process they face a growing need to reconsider their systems of grading to determine whether or not these systems support their pedagogies The authors interrogate the grading of individual papers as well as portfolios and the assigning of end of term grades This collection explores the issues and problems that have emerged as conventional grading practices have lagged behind and been challenged by new theories of language While the book will be of interest to theorists Zak and Weaver have also made the book relevant and useful to teachers whose primary interest is the practical consequences of theory in their classrooms Where theoretical discussion takes place the language is clear and accessible Many of the authors write directly from personal experience telling stories of the classroom or writing of new techniques and approaches they have tried They speak with the voices of teachers and the tone and content of their words convey a sense of the immediacy of the topic

Guskey, Nancy Frey, Douglas Fisher, 2024-06-20 Let evidence and integrity guide your grading practice If you want to ask a polarizing question in education ask someone their thoughts on grading Few topics have elicited more interest or opinions even though grading practices have remained relatively unchanged for years But opinions are not evidence The time has come to get it right with a fresh approach grounded in research and the principles of integrity Grading With Integrity introduces a measured approach to grading reform based on honesty transparency accuracy and equity with recommendations backed by clear and trustworthy evidence Addressing the many whys involved this thoughtfully organized book addresses central questions related to grading and reporting student learning covering An historical overview of grading and reporting practices A discussion of standards based and competency based grading Recommendations for reporting non academic learning goals separately from academic achievement to accurately reflect students performance Suggestions for reporting growth and improvement using specific assessments and other reporting tools An infallible argument for grading with integrity This book is a must read for K 12 classroom teachers and administrators who are looking to implement better and more defensible grading and reporting policies and practices Let evidence and integrity be your guide to enhancing students best interests and learning success
